NOTIFICATION.

No. 284 A.—The 2nd July 1929.—The following rules to regulate the recruitment by examination of certain of the provincial and other services in Bengal during 1929 are published for general information. Separate announcements will be made of the date and place of the examination:—

Rules.

1. Extent of application.—These rules apply to the direct recruitment of the Bengal Civil Service (Executive), the Bengal Excise Service, the Bengal Police Service, the Bengal Junior Civil Service, the Bengal Junior Excise Service and the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service.

2. Method of direct recruitment.—Direct recruitment for these services will be made on the results of a competitive examination, but Government reserve the right to appoint by nomination from the list of qualified examinees individual candidates belonging to the backward classes as enumerated on page 189, Part I of the Report of the Calcutta University Commission and to the Anglo-Indian, Indian Christian and Buddhist communities and other minorities if the results of the examination fail to secure the representation of such classes or communities, and in the case of the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service to fill European and Anglo-Indian vacancies by selection from outside the list. The head of an office in the Bengal Secretariat also retains the power to appoint men of special ability or aptitude to any post in the office when, on account of the special requirements of the post or other exceptional circumstances, the post cannot be filled in the ordinary way.

3. Choice of Service.—Each candidate for direct recruitment will be required to specify in his application the service or services for which he desires to compete, placing them in the order of his preference, and the choice thus indicated will be final. Appointments will be assigned to successful competitors with due consideration of their choice and the number of vacancies in the various services but Government reserve the right to offer to a candidate an appointment to a Service for which the candidate has not specified a desire to compete.

4. Communal representation.—The examination board will submit to Government separate lists showing (a) the Muhammadan candidates, (b) the candidates belonging to the backward classes and other minorities, and (c) all others. Appointments will be made from these lists in the order of merit of the candidates, subject to the following provisions:—

Government reserve the right to nominate any qualified candidate in list (b).

In services other than the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service Government reserve the right to fill as many as 45 per cent. of the vacancies by the appointment of Muhammadan candidates if there are qualified candidates available. In the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service the minimum proportion of Muhammadans is secured by appointing a Muhammadan to every third vacancy in each office if a qualified candidate is available.

5. Notification of vacancies.—The number of appointments to be made to these services will be notified as soon as possible after the 1st July. The examination will be held towards the end of the year.

6. Application for admission to whom addressed.—A person desiring to be admitted to the examination shall apply, before such date as the Governor in Council may prescribe, to the head of the college from which he passed his examination for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Science, Commerce, etc. A candidate who passed the examination as a non-collegiate student shall send in his application to the Registrar, Calcutta University, together with a certificate of character signed by the Principal of his college if he was connected with one, and by the Magistrate of the district in which he is resident, in other cases; candidates from the Dacca University shall apply to the Registrar, Dacca University. All other candidates (not included in the previously mentioned categories) shall apply to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal:

Provided that in no case shall a candidate apply to more than one of these authorities, and that such application shall always be made through their Durbars by persons resident in a State in India.

7. Time and manner of application.—Applications shall be made, before such date as the Governor in Council may prescribe, in the form shown in Schedule I, copies of which may be obtained from the heads of colleges, the Registrars of the Calcutta and Dacca Universities, and the Director of Public Instruction.

8. Application fee.—No application will be taken into consideration by the nominating authority, unless it is accompanied by non-judicial stamps of the value of Rs. 5 or a chalan showing payment into a Government treasury in Bengal of the sum of Rs. 5. This payment is obligatory whether such application is subsequently rejected or not. Applications stamped with postage stamps will not be accepted.

9. Selection Committee.—The Governor in Council will appoint a Selection Committee. This Committee will be composed of officials and non-officials in equal numbers and will be presided over by a high officer of Government.

10. Nomination.—The heads of colleges, the Registrars of the Calcutta and Dacca Universities, and the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, shall forward to the Selection Committee, before such date as the Governor in Council may prescribe, the applications of candidates nominated in accordance with the allotment of nominations shown in Schedule II and shall certify the moral character of each candidate so nominated. The application of a non-collegiate student nominated by the Registrar of the Calcutta University should be supported by the character certificates mentioned in rule 6. In making these nominations, due regard should be paid to the desirability of different classes and communities being represented in the public service.

11. Selection certificates.—In order to make the appraisement of individual merits of candidates possible, the Selection Committee shall issue certificates of selection to such of the nominated candidates, not exceeding 200 in all, as it considers qualified to appear at the examination. The selection or rejection of a candidate by the Selection Committee shall be final, and no candidate shall be admitted to the examination unless he holds such a certificate:

Provided that in making their choice the Selection Committee shall give all possible consideration to the cases of candidates of backward classes and other minorities and shall call for further nominations from the heads of colleges or Commissioners of Divisions if the number of selected Muhammadan candidates does not reach 45 per cent. of the total number selected.

12. Conditions of eligibility.—The indispensable qualifications of a candidate are—

(a) that he is a native of the province or has a permanent domicile within the province;

(b) that he is a natural born subject of His Majesty or of an Indian State;

(c) that he is more than 22 and less than 25 years of age on the 1st August of the year in which the examination is held;

(d) that he is a graduate;

(e) that he is of good character; and

(f) that he is of sound health, good physique, active habits and free from organic defect or bodily infirmity.

Along with this application a candidate shall submit proof of his age and certificates from two responsible persons, unconnected with his College or University and not related to him, testifying to his character and stating that he is a native of or has a permanent domicile within the province of Bengal. Such certificates must have been written not more than one year prior to the date of application.

13. Particulars of candidates.—The Selection Committee may require such further proof or particulars from the candidates as it may consider necessary, and may make enquiries regarding their character and domicile.

14. Eligibility of Government servants.—Unless especially excepted by Government by general or special order, candidates holding substantive appointments in Government service will be debarred from appearing at the examination. Whenever such exception is made, the candidate will be subject to selection by the Selection Committee as if he were duly nominated under rule 10 of these rules.

15. Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of a candidate to enlist support for his application through persons of influence will disqualify him for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from persons interested in the candidates, or otherwise known to them, will be disregarded.

16. Examination fee and time-table.—Every candidate to whom a certificate of selection has been issued will, within a week from the date of its receipt, deposit in the nearest treasury in Bengal a sum of Rs. 50 as examination fee and forward the receipt for the same to the Secretary to the Selection Committee. No part of the fee will be returnable to a candidate. Delay in this respect may render a candidate's name liable to removal from the list of examinees. On complying with this requirement the candidates will receive from the Secretary a time-table for the examination.

17. Syllabus of examination and marks.—The examination will be held in the subjects and according to the syllabus shown in Schedule III which also indicates the numerical value to be attached to each paper at the examination.

As the possession of a knowledge of a provincial vernacular is an essential condition for appointment, candidates whose ordinary spoken and written language is not Bengali, must take up translation from English into one of the provincial vernaculars named below:—

(i) Bengali,
(ii) Hindi,
(iii) Urdu,
(iv) Nepali,

and vice versa in the compulsory paper. Successful candidates, however, who have offered any language other than Bengali in that paper and are appointed to a service for which there is a Departmental Examination will be required to pass completely the Departmental Examinations in Bengali within two years of the date of their appointment to the service.

18. Medical examination.—As soon as the result of the examination has been declared, successful candidates will be required to appear before a Medical Board for a certificate of their fitness for Government service in the form shown in Schedule IV. Regulations as to the physical examination are given in the schedule and intending candidates are advised before they apply under rule 6 for admission to the examination, to satisfy themselves that they are likely to qualify as physically fit under these regulations. For recent experience has shown that a considerable number of the candidates who qualify at the competitive examination are subsequently rejected by the Medical Board as unfit.

W. S. HOPKYNS,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

SCHEDULE IV.

Candidates selected for appointment after the examination will, before appointment, be called upon to satisfy a Medical Board as to their fitness for appointment to Government service, and will be required to conform to the physical standards laid down in the regulations subjoined.

These regulations are published for the convenience of candidates and in order to enable them to ascertain the probability of their coming up to the required physical standard. But it must be clearly understood that Government reserve to themselves an absolute discretion to reject as unfit any candidate whom they may consider, after hearing the opinion of their medical advisers, to be physically disqualified for the public service; and that their discretion is in no respect limited by these regulations.

Regulations as to the physical examination of candidates for appointment to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive), the Bengal Excise Service, the Bengal Police Service, the Bengal Junior Civil Service, the Bengal Junior Excise Service and the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service.

General physical requirements.

I. A candidate must be in good mental and bodily health, and free from any physical defect likely to interfere with the efficient performance of his duty.

II. In the examination of candidates the Medical Board will apply the following table of correlation of age, height and chest girth:—

Age.	Height without shoes.			Chest measurement on full expiration.	Chest measurement on full inspiration.
	Inches.		Inches.
21 and upwards	62½	and under	65	30	32
	65	„	68	31	33
	68	„	70	32	34
	70	„	72	33	35½
	72 and upwards			34	36½

III. Measurement of chest.—The candidate will be made to stand erect with his feet together and to raise his hands above his head. The tape will be carefully adjusted round the chest, with its posterior upper edge touching the inferior angles of the shoulder blades, and its anterior lower edge the upper part of the nipples. The arms will then be lowered to hang loosely by the side, and care will be taken that the shoulders are not thrown upwards or backwards so as to displace the tape. The candidate will then be directed to empty his chest of air as much as is possible. This is best done by continuous whistling with the lips as long as sound can be produced. The tape will be carefully gathered in during the process, and when the minimum measurement is reached it will be recorded. The candidate will then be directed to inflate his chest to its utmost capacity. The maximum measurement will likewise be noted. The girth with the chest fully expanded and the range of expansion between the minimum and maximum will then be recorded. In all doubtful cases the functional capacity of the lungs may be tested by means of the spirometer. The minimum vital capacity as tested by the spirometer shall in no case be below 180 cubic inches.

IV. The hearing must be good.

V. The speech must be without impediment.

VI. The teeth must be in good order, i.e., decayed or broken teeth must be properly stopped or crowned, and deficient teeth replaced by artificial teeth, where necessary, for effective mastication.

VII. The chest must be well formed, the lungs and heart sound.

VIII. Rupture, hydrocele, varicocele, varicose veins in a severe degree, or other conditions likely to cause inefficiency will disqualify a candidate, unless such condition is cured by operation. Where any candidate has been rejected and has subsequently undergone one or other operation for hernia, hydrocele, varicocele or varicose veins, the Board may pass him provided they are satisfied that the condition has been radically cured.

Form of medical certificate for candidates for appointment to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive), the Bengal Excise Service, the Bengal Junior Civil Service, the Bengal Junior Excise Service and the Upper Division of the Secretariat Clerical Service.

The attention of the Medical Board is specially directed to the following:—

No person will be deemed qualified for admission to the service who shall not satisfy Government that he has no disease, constitutional affection or bodily infirmity, unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the service. It should be understood that the question of fitness involves the future as well as the present and that one of the main objects of medical examination is to secure continuous effective service, and in the case of candidates for permanent appointment to prevent early pension. It is at the same time to be noted that the question is one of the likelihood of continuous effective service, and that the rejection of a candidate need not be advised on account of the presence of a defect which in only a small proportion of cases is found to interfere with continuous effective service. Before filling up the form it should be ascertained from the candidate whether he has been previously pronounced unfit for Government service by any duly constituted medical authority in India or elsewhere.

No. 131.—The 7th June 1929.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 78 and 99 of Act III (B. C.) of 1876, the Governor in Council proposes to pass the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Salbundh Canal in the Bankura district.

Bankura.

H. J. TWYNAM,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Leases for a term of years.

1. The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, natural or artificial. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

2. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its gross and irrigable areas in registers to be maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officer.

3. Leases for not more than six years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions: —

I.—Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently, a separate lease may be granted for each part.

II.—All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.

III.—No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

4. The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross area for which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term of years may be granted.

5. Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for a term of years, or in which there is any probability of such leases being taken, shall be kept in the Subdivisional Canal Office. These maps to be at scale 32″ = 1 mile when such are available, and elsewhere at scale 16″ = 1 mile.

6. The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either new or renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. It may be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Office; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Canal Officer as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, shall at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as that officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease being proceeded with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall forward the preliminary application to the Circle Officer, Midnapore, in order that the detailed assessment may be taken in hand. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map alluded to in rule 5.

7. The Circle Officer on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. This shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map and khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra, the Circle Officer shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Subdivisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Circle Officer endorsed with his signature in token of approval.

The Circle Officer shall then prepare a khatian or abstract of the khasra, and shall have the form of application, given as Appendix No. I to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants, in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Circle Officer shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit or formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix No. III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to the representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer by means of his Sectional Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Circle Officer, Revenue Division, with a copy of the permit for record.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block proposed for lease are not unanimous, and that certain of them decline to sign the application, the Circle Officer shall report the matter to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. This officer shall hold a local enquiry, recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and recording his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send a report to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease may be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer is authorised to grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigable area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be desirable to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be fully recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require water before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tendering an application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix No. II to these rules. This application must be signed in the presence of the Tahsildar or of some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The signatures should be those of the leading cultivators in the block in question and they should represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly signed, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix No. IV to these rules, and shall at once supply water.

Season Leases.

12. Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between the 16th November and 15th June, may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They must be in the form given as Appendix No. V to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required must be specified but the rate will be charged on those areas for which water is actually used as determined by measurement.

The permit in the form given as Appendix No. VI to these rules will be granted by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

13. The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

14. No water shall be supplied to any lands except such as have been brought under a lease for a term of years or for the season, or to such as are provided for by a covering lease.

15. Under the forms of irrigation lease in use, no specific supply of water is promised: but the undertaking is to give such a supply to each lessee as may be necessary for the lands leased. The supply shall be given, as may be required for the proper cultivation of the crops under irrigation, according to the exigencies of the season.

16. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to give the required supply by rotation, should this be advisable for the efficient working of the canals in his charge. In such a case, he is required to give the lessees written notice informing them of the periods when they will be supplied with water.

Collection of water-rates.

17. The rates due for water supplied shall be collected by the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, Midnapore, through his staff of Tahsildars and peons. All khatians or demand statements shall be signed by the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division after scrutiny in his office.

18. At the time of preparation of the khatian in the Circle Officer's office, each person assessed shall be furnished with an extract from the assessment paper, showing the particulars of the charge against him. This extract shall be furnished in such form as may from time to time be approved for the purpose.

19. Each person on paying the sum due from him shall be given a receipt in the form prescribed for the purpose.

20. For the purposes of account, of control over establishment, and of general administration, the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division is in the position of an Executive Engineer in charge of a division, and is directly subordinate to the Superintending Engineer. In regard to any proceedings taken under the Public Demands Recovery Act the Circle Officer is subject to the control of the Collector of the district.

Unauthorized use of water and waste of water.

21. Should it be necessary to take action under the provisions of sections 79 and 80 of the Act, proceedings shall be instituted only under the direct and special order of the Divisional Canal Officer. The primary record of the facts regarding the unauthorized use or the waste of water shall be made by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his subordinates. The parties whom it is proposed to assess shall be informed in writing, and shall be called on to show cause why they should not be assessed. The record of their statements shall be made by the Divisional or by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall consider the facts and statements recorded, and shall, in deciding the case, give his reasons for or against assessment, both as regards the facts and as regards the law; and he shall determine the rate to be charged subject to the provision in the schedule of rates attached to these rules.

22. Should the Divisional Canal Officer decide on making an assessment, he shall have the assessment paper prepared by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his staff. Each person assessed shall be furnished with a statement of the charge against him, and an abstract of the demand or khatian shall be sent to the officer in charge of the Revenue Division, who shall proceed to recover the sums assessed. The period of one month within which an appeal may be presented to the Collector under section 91 of the Act shall count from the date on which the statement of the charge may be furnished to the person assessed, which date shall be endorsed on it.

23. No proceedings shall be instituted if the unauthorized use or the waste of water have occurred through the act or neglect of a Canal Officer or subordinate employed on the Canal. During the irrigation of autumn rice, the passing on of surplus water from leased to unleased fields is not an unauthorized use of water.

Complaints and Applications.

24. All complaints or applications with respect to the supply of water, to defective drainage, and generally with respect to the administration of the canal, shall be received on presentation at either divisional or subdivisional canal offices.

Complaints and applications received by a Divisional Canal Officer may be transferred to his Subdivisional Canal Officers for disposal at his discretion.

Any such complaints or applications, if presented to the Circle Officer or to his staff, shall be returned endorsed with instructions as to the proper office at which to present them. If received by post, they shall be at once forwarded to the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer.

25. Complaints or applications with respect to corrections of the assessment with respect to the actions of the amins in assessing and with respect to the actions of the tahsildars and other staff employed in collections, shall be received at the office of the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division.

26. Receipts in the prescribed form shall be given at all offices for complaints or applications presented. The receipt of all complaints and applications shall be recorded in registers to be kept for that purpose.

27. The Officer receiving the complaint or application shall either make a personal enquiry into the matter or he shall nominate in writing some responsible person to hold the enquiry.

28. The orders passed on all complaints or applications shall be in writing, and a copy of every order shall be furnished to the complainant or applicant.

The copy of order may be sent by post (registered), if this is convenient.

The period within which an appeal may be presented under section 91 of the Act shall be reckoned from the date on which the copy of the order is received by the person.

29. When an appeal to the Collector is from the order of a Subdivisional Canal Officer, the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer, who may record on them such remarks as he may think desirable, provided that he does not thereby detain the proceedings.

In all cases in which an appeal against an assessment is preferred to the Collector, that officer may, if he thinks fit, direct that the collection of water-rates be suspended till the appeal is heard.

30. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to revise the proceedings of his Subdivisional Canal Officers, and the Superintending Engineer is empowered to call for and to revise the proceedings of all officers under his control.

Remissions and Alterations of Demand.

31. Whenever the crop on land entitled to a supply of water suffers material injury from an insufficient supply of water, or from any interruption in the supply of water, remission of the rate due on such crop shall be given by the Divisional Canal Officer, provided that the person claiming remission shall have applied for such not less than 15 days before the reaping of the crop.

32. On the occasion of lands being brought under a lease for a term of years, the Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to remit the rates for the first season on those fields which from the nature of the cultivation then obtaining, or from other causes, have not, in that season, derived any benefit from the supply of canal water.

33. Should the crop on lands under lease for a term of years suffer material injury from excess of water due to deficient drainage, the Divisional Canal Officer may grant remission of the rates due on such lands in whole or in part, provided that the person asking for remission shall have applied at least 15 days before the reaping of the crop.

34. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of land under lease being left uncultivated or of land being appropriated for purposes other than cultivation shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

35. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of incorrect entries of the names of occupants of lands under lease or of incorrect entries of areas or amounts in the assessment papers, or required by changes in the occupation of lands shall be made under the orders of the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, provided that no change involving any increase or decrease in the total area under lease for a term of years shall be made without the concurrence of the Divisional Canal Officer.

36. Remissions of water-rates on account of injury to the crops caused by inundation, by blight, by storms or by any extraordinary cause will only be allowed under the special orders of the Local Government.

Irrecoverable Demands.

37. The Superintending Engineer is empowered to sanction the write-off of those demands which are reported, after due enquiry by the Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, as irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the defaulter or of his successors in case of his death, or owing to the defaulter having absconded.

Cultivators' Representatives.

38. Whenever the preliminary application for a lease for a term of years has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, the officer in charge of the Revenue Division shall, with the concurrence of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, select as representative of the cultivators a suitable person or persons who shall generally be acceptable to the cultivators and who shall each have a direct interest in the land for which the lease is executed.

39. The person or persons so selected shall be required to give assistance to the Canal Officers in respect of the following matters:—

(i) In the preparation of applications for leases.

(ii) In the measurement of irrigated lands.

(iii) In recording the names of the occupiers of the holdings.

(iv) In receiving demand statements and distributing to the cultivators the individual notices of assessment.

(v) In attending, when required, at enquiries into complaints.

(vi) In reporting to the Circle Officer any changes in the occupancy of lands under lease.

(vii) In assisting the tahsildar in collecting rates.

40. For such assistance the cultivators' representative or representatives shall be entitled to free irrigation of the lands in his or in their own occupation, which may lie within the boundaries of the leased area subject to a total limit of 3 per cent. of the area assessed. The Circle Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division may disallow in whole or in part this free irrigation, and may recover the rates which would otherwise have been payable in whole or in part if the assistance specified in rule 39 has not been efficiently rendered. The reasons for such disallowance shall be recorded in writing.

41. The Circle Officer shall maintain in his office a register containing a record of the names of all representatives and of the areas of free irrigation allowed to each.

42. Applicants for season leases shall be required to nominate one of their number who must have a substantial interest in the land to be irrigated as their representative. The representative so nominated shall perform the same duties as stated in rule 39 and shall receive remuneration on the same scale as in rule 40.

Power to decline or cancel leases.

43. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 16th of June next following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st of April of the year in which it is to take effect.

44. The Superintending Engineer may give directions to the Divisional Canal Officer to decline applications for irrigation leases of lands in villages where there has been persistent difficulty in realizing the water-rates, until all arrears have been paid.

He may further suspend, or altogether cancel, any lease for a term of years, if on the 1st June of any year water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears. Previous notice of intention to put this rule in force shall be given not later than the 15th April preceding.

Miscellaneous.

45. Tanks may be supplied with canal-water without charge, when water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on a canal, under the following conditions:—

(i) That the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes, or for watering cattle.

(ii) That a channel exists through which water can pass without waste.

(iii) That the water shall only be supplied on the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer.

(iv) That any new outlet or sluice which may be required to allow of the supply being given shall be provided at the cost of the persons who ask for the water.

(v) That the supply of water may be stopped at any time if it is found that it is being misused.

46. Except when a public right-of-way exists, no person shall, without the permission expressed in writing of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass himself, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across any of the works, banks or channels of a canal, or drainage work which is part of the canal system except by means of such bridges, fords and ferries as may have been provided for the purpose.

Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under section 93, clause (9), of the Irrigation Act.

47. The use of any part of the banks or berms of any canal, drainage work which is part of the canal system, or flood embankment which is subject to the provisions of the Irrigation Act, as a place for relieving the calls of nature, is prohibited. Any person who after due warning commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under section 93, clause (9), of the Irrigation Act.

48. Should water be required for purposes other than irrigation, it may be supplied, when available, at a rate of one rupee per 10,000 cubic feet of water.

49. No officer employed on the canals, unless especially exempted by the Governor in Council from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

Bakarganj.

No. 111.—The 13th May 1929.—The following draft of rules and schedule of rates of tolls, which, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make for the Nalchiti-Koterdone Khal joining the Nalchiti river in the north and Biskhali Done leading to the Bakarganj river in the south, in the district of Bakarganj, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th July 1929, and any objections or suggestions received by the undersigned before that date will be considered:—

Draft rules and schedules of rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the District Board of Bakarganj on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of the determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, etc.

Class II.—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats and barges and other square-built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of Act V (B. C.) of 1864 and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

CLASS I.

A. The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water-line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees.—The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

CLASS II.

For vessels of class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one-half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance of engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills, the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills or in the case of steamers, the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which must be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the sarang, manjee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket must be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and must be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of Government, District Board, other local bodies or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the District Board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10. The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canals.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows:—

(1) On all vessels empty or laden, per hundred maunds	Twelve annas.
(2) On all vessels empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less	One anna six pies.
(3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber, etc., not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth	Six annas each raft.

Tolls will be levied at Nalchiti and Koterdone.

13. For boats frequently using the canal, such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at 10 times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month. Provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers and officers of the British Army, post mail runners, officers of the Irrigation Department on duty, officers and servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, or the vessels of such other persons as may be exempted by a resolution of the District Board of Bakarganj, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevant points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the District Board of Bakarganj at a meeting, and shall be subject to the approval of the local Government.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Draft rules.

1. The Superintending Engineer, Southern Circle, may define the limits within which no loading or unloading of cargo from or to vessels or mooring of vessels shall be permitted. The prohibited reaches shall be notified by the supervisor of the channels by posting notices on sign-boards in the locality and also by beat of drum.

2. At places where mooring posts have been provided by the supervisor, vessels desiring to moor shall be made fast to such posts by the bow and stern in a single line along the banks or in such other manner as the supervisor may direct.

3. Vessels, while moored, should be kept as close to the banks as possible. As the water falls, the bow and stern ropes should be slackened and the vessels gradually pushed towards the centre of the channel. During flood tide vessels must be brought as close to the bank as possible.

4. While mooring at the tow-path side all vessels must lower sail and mast and must not erect any high pole, so that the towage of other vessels may not be obstructed.

5. In order to avoid collision or confusion, vessels waiting at the junction of two or more rivers for a favourable tide must be moored at a distance of not less than 1,000 feet from the point of junction.

6. No vessel or raft shall be moored in such a position or navigated in such a way as to endanger the safety or obstruct the passage of other vessels but must be so moored or navigated as prescribed by these rules or as directed by the supervisor of the channel or his assistants.

7. The supervisor may, by posting notices, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or poles in any part of the line of navigation.

8. No jetties, either permanent or temporary, for the purpose of loading or unloading cargo shall be constructed without the previous permission of the supervisor.

9. The supervisor, or an assistant authorised by him, may remove any vessel, anchor, pole, or any other thing which he may find in a position which is in contravention of rules 1 to 8 and may deal with them in such a manner as he thinks necessary.

10. Whenever a laden vessel is seized by the supervisor or by his assistants he shall give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent and require the removal of the cargo without delay, and shall warn him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the same.

11. Vessels plying in the narrow channels mentioned below shall not use sail:—

(a) Guntia Khali khal (in the reach, mile 68 to mile 72).
(b) Cut No. 2 (in the reach, mile 78 to mile 82).
(c) Baitaghata khal (in the reach, mile 102 to mile 107).
(d) Alaipur khal (in the reach, mile 121 to mile 130).
(e) Bemorta khal (in the reach, mile 136 to mile 143).
(f) Damodar khal (in the reach, mile 152 to mile 156).
(g) Baustoli khal (Outer Boat Route).

12. Where there is a tow-path on one bank only, vessels plying with the current shall keep to the opposite bank, and allow towage to those proceeding against the current.

13. No person is permitted to place any obstruction on the channel banks, roads, drains, canal side bridges, etc., which will impede a free passage along them, or cause injury to them, or to commit any nuisance, or to deposit any obnoxious material thereon or in the channel.

14. No person shall deposit goods of any description on the slopes of the channel between the water line and the high bank, without the previous permission of the supervisor except during the actual process of loading or unloading vessels.

15. All timber must be drawn up on to the bank well above the water.

16. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in any part of the line of navigation.

17. All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, between sunset and sunrise, must carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel, where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade Regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first part of this rule. This rule does not apply to small uncovered dinghis, not exceeding 15 feet in length, while moored along the bank.

18. The supervisor may, by posting notices on sign-boards, specify a speed-limit for vessels in any reach.

19. Wrecks.—In the case of a wreck the supervisor or his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

20. It shall be the duty of the supervisor to mark the wreck and to erect warning signals to avoid danger to navigation.

21. If, after seven days of the occurrence of a wreck, prompt measures are not taken by the owner to remove it from the line of navigation, the supervisor, after giving notice to the owner, may arrange for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner. Further, if a wreck obstructs the fairway, the supervisor may take action at once to remove the same and may incur whatever expense is necessary.

22. In the event of the salvage of a wreck being undertaken by the owner of the vessel, or by his agent, and of the obstruction not being removed within seven days, a fine not exceeding Rs. 5 per day for the period commencing from the 8th day of the wreck, or any other day specified by the supervisor, till the wreck is salved, shall be paid by the owner to the supervisor. If the fine be not paid by the owner or his agent, the vessel or any portion of the cargo may be seized by the supervisor and disposed of by sale as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act 5 of 1864.

23. When the supervisor or his assistants remove a wreck, they shall not be liable for any damage to the vessel or cargo, or for any loss before, or in the process of salvage done by them.

24. As soon as a wrecked vessel is salved by the supervisor or his staff, a notice shall be issued by him calling on those concerned to pay to the supervisor all the charges incurred by him on account of the salvage of the vessel or of removing or guarding the cargo under the following heads:—

(i) Actual cost of salving the vessel.

(ii) Cost of serving the notice.

(iii) Cost of removal, maintenance, custody and protection.

(iv) Godown charges.

In case of any dispute regarding such charges, the Executive Engineer concerned, on receipt of a written application from the owner of the vessel, shall decide the amount to be paid and his decision shall be final.

25. The vessel, or its cargo, shall not be handed over to the owner until the charges levied under rule 24 have been paid.

26. If, within fifteen days from the publication of a notice under rule 24, or in the event of an application to the Executive Engineer appealing against the notice within fifteen days of the date of the Executive Engineer's decision, the sum demanded be not paid, the vessel, its furniture and any portion of the cargo recovered, shall be sold by the supervisor, by public auction, and the proceeds dealt with in accordance with section 9 of the Canals Act 5 of 1864.

27. All notices under rules 21, 22 and 24 shall be issued in writing by the supervisor, and despatched in a registered cover to the owner of the vessel. If the owner be not known or cannot be traced, a general notice shall be posted on the notice board of the Executive Engineer's office. Also it shall be announced by beat of drum at the hat nearest to the place of salvage, and also by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta or local newspaper.

28. No officer of any description or rank employed on the canals shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

29. For any infringement of rules 1 to 8 and 11 to 18, the person in charge of the vessel or other person in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 and to an additional fine not exceeding Rs. 5 for each day that the infringement is continued.

2. It is considered that at present the best field for recruitment in India of the small number of recruits required for this Department is the subordinate staff of the State Railway Collieries, provided that a sufficient number of men with necessary educational and practical qualifications are available to enable satisfactory selections to be made.

Candidates for the posts of probationers must be persons of Indian domicile, be not over 25 years of age and hold either the Mining Diploma from the Bengal Engineering College or the Diploma of the School of Mines at Dhanbad. DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 26th June 1929.

Summary.—During the week light to moderate rainfall was general throughout the Presidency. More rain, however, is needed, especially in parts of West Bengal for the growth of standing crops and for the transplantation of winter paddy seedlings. Weeding of autumn paddy and thinning of jute are progressing. Harvesting of low land jute continues in parts of East and North Bengal. The condition of standing crops is generally fair except in parts of East Bengal, where damage by flood is reported. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 1·79 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION IN THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1928.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Police Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 27TH JUNE 1929.

RESOLUTION—No. 2288 Pl.

READ—

The Report on the Police Administration in the town of Calcutta and its suburbs for the year 1928.

The office of Commissioner of Police was held by Sir Charles Tegart, KT., C.I.E., M.V.O., throughout the year.

2. Strength.—The sanctioned strength of the Calcutta Police Force at the end of 1928 was practically the same as at the end of the preceding year but the actual strength was increased by 143, although only 673 constables were recruited as compared with 771 in 1927. While it is too early to comment on the effects of the increased pay for sergeants, head constables and officers of lower rank, which was sanctioned with effect from the 1st November 1928, there can be little doubt that the big decrease in the number of vacancies is due to the better conditions of service. It is noteworthy that the number of constables of seventeen years' service and over increased from 357 to 464 while resignations dropped from 119 to 90. The health of the force showed some improvement, the average daily percentage of sick falling to 2·04 and the Governor in Council hopes that this improvement will be maintained and that the Commissioner of Police will not again have occasion to note that many of the men admitted to hospital were suffering from mal-nutrition. He also hopes that the higher pay will attract an increasing number of Bengali recruits.

3. Housing.—The programme of building construction for which a loan was obtained from the Government of India is now nearing completion, but the Governor in Council regrets that an examination of the possible annual revenue surplus accruing under the existing financial settlement showed that it was useless to proceed with the formulation of a loan scheme for police buildings in the suburbs. If there is any improvement in the provincial finances, the Commissioner will be asked to revive the project for the consideration of Government, as the present condition of many of the buildings, in which the police are housed in the suburbs, is very unsatisfactory and, as remarked by the Commissioner, the rents which have to be paid are likely to increase with the rapid development of the suburban area.

4. Discipline.—The Governor in Council regrets that misconduct on the part of members of the force necessitated sharp disciplinary and judicial action in a larger number of cases than in any of the three preceding years, but trusts that the general public will share his confidence in the Commissioner's determination to tolerate no abuses likely to bring discredit on the force as a whole. The Governor in Council has had occasion to examine a number of cases in which members of the force were dismissed for conniving at the commission of thefts from the jetties, and vessels in the stream, and congratulates the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Mr. Fairweather, on the good work which he did in unearthing the conspiracy and on the vigour and promptness of the action which he took against the police officers concerned.

5. Crime statistics.—No reader of the Report can fail to be struck by the large increase in the number of offences reported to the police, and while the Governor in Council desires to invite attention to the fact that only about 5 per cent. of the increase of over 25,000 cases relate to offences punishable under the Indian Penal Code, he regrets to notice that there was an increase of over 40 per cent. in the number of true cases of burglary and of over 30 per cent. in the number of true cases of theft. At the same time, he notes with satisfaction that the number of true cases of burglary in 1928 was less than two-thirds of the number in 1922, while the number of true cases of theft was less than that year's number by one-sixth. In reviewing the report for 1926, the Governor in Council observed that the Presidency Area Emergency Security Act had proved of great value in dealing with criminal gangs, and he now notes that the increase of crime referred to has coincided with the return of most of the well-known offenders dealt with under the Act.

Although the Governor in Council has not examined in detail the question whether the present method of dealing with juveniles, charged with petty offences such as begging and causing obstruction in the streets, can be improved, he is inclined to agree with the remarks of the Commissioner on the point.

6. Revolutionary crime and seditious writings and speeches.—The Governor in Council is pleased to record that, during the year, the remainder of the persons imprisoned under the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act were released from restraint, and that it was not considered necessary to make any fresh arrests. While noticing with satisfaction that no overt act of violence was perpetrated by terrorists in Calcutta, he is still of opinion that constant vigilance on the part of the police is necessary.

While it has given His Excellency great satisfaction to be able to dispense with practically all the powers vested in him under the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act, he regrets that he has been compelled to order a considerable number of prosecutions for seditious speeches and writings. He trusts that the press of Bengal will not again be disgraced by the publication of such an article as appeared in a now defunct newspaper, the obvious intention of which was to incite race hatred and which was characterised by the Chief Justice as a deliberate piece of rascality.

7. Public order.—Owing to the easing of inter-communal tension and the elaborate precautions taken by the police on the occasion of important Hindu and Muhammadan festivals, there was no outbreak of rioting between members of these two communities. His Excellency in Council trusts that the situation will continue to improve so that the police will be relieved to some extent of the great strain to which they have been subjected on such occasions in recent years.

The Governor in Council desires to express his approval of the way in which the police handled the difficult situation created on the 3rd February 1928, the day on which the Statutory Commission arrived in India, when large numbers of youths, whose feelings had been worked up by an elaborate newspaper campaign, got out of hand and violently obstructed the running of tramway cars in Bhowanipore and near the University. His Excellency in Council entertained serious apprehensions that there would be a similar outbreak of disorder on the arrival of the Commission in Calcutta in December and during their stay in the City, which synchronised with the visit of His Excellency the Viceroy and the session of the Congress and a number of connected conferences. The coincidence of these events involved a great deal of extra work for the police which was cheerfully undertaken and the critical period passed without any serious disturbance.

8. Labour.—The strike of Corporation scavengers in May and June called for tactful handling on the part of the Calcutta Police force, which had also the difficult task, successfully discharged, of shepherding a large number of processions during the course of the East Indian Railway strike at Howrah.

9. Traffic.—The Governor in Council notices that there has been a further increase in the number of public service motor vehicles plying in Calcutta and is greatly interested in the Commissioner's remarks about the improvement in the quality of vehicles recently placed on the streets. The preparation of an up-to-date set of rules governing the use of motor vehicles in Calcutta, the co-ordination of bus services and the reorganization of the clerical and executive staff show that the Motor Vehicles Department has benefited by the visit of the Inspector of the London Traffic Police. The Governor in Council realises, however, that firm direction and control by the police must be backed by willing co-operation on the part of users of the road and trusts that owners of motor cars will, both by their own example and by the instruction of their drivers in the observance not only of the rules but also of the courtesies of the road, contribute to the smooth running of motor vehicle traffic in Calcutta.

10. Miscellaneous.—Attention has been called recently in the public press to the nuisance caused by beggars, hawkers and stray cattle, and a considerable portion of the time and energy of the police has been devoted to an attempt to mitigate such nuisances, but in the present state of the law police action can have little effect. The Governor in Council is of opinion that much could be done by the Corporation to improve the present situation; and he desires to assure that body that any exercise by them of the powers which they possess, or could acquire, would meet with the strongest co-operation on the part of Government.

11. Commendation of officers.—The Governor in Council has been pleased to read the tribute which the Commissioner of Police has paid to his Deputy Commissioners and to some of his Assistant Commissioners, inspectors and sub-inspectors. His Excellency in Council desires to take this opportunity of placing on record his appreciation of the services of Sir Charles Tegart and of the general efficiency of the administration of the police in Calcutta.

Order.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta, and the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the resolution and a copy of the report be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

In forty equal half-yearly instalments of Rs. 3,391-0-6 each payable on the 16th March and 16th September

In addition to the details required on the reverse clear information should be given below under the following heads :--

The house tax is levied at 10 per cent. of the annual value of holdings, water tax at 5 per cent. on houses having water connection and at 2 per cent. in houses having no water connection and the latrine tax is levied at a sliding scale.

(c) A statement of all outstanding loans specifying in respect of each loan, the date when taken, the purpose (very briefly), the amount, the annual charges involved and the amount still payable.

In addition to the details required on the reverse, clear informations are given below under the following heads:—

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the district board has taken or has agreed to take to make good the deficiency.	(a) It has been stated in paragraph (d) that the interest together with the capital would be met out of the sum annually set apart for the improvement of the rural water supply in the district. Virtually there is no deficit if the closing balance of the previous year is taken into account.
(b) Possible means of income in the revenue of the district board.	(b) The cess re-valuation operation is nearly over. And a substantial increase to the income is expected during the current year.
(c) A statement of all outstanding loans as well as the annual charges involved on their account.	(c) (1) Loan of Rs. 40,000 taken on 20th March 1923, out of which 12 instalments of Rs. 1,873-2 each were paid up to date out of 40 instalments. (2) Loan of Rs. 30,000 taken on 14th February 1925 out of which 8 instalments of Rs. 1,404-13 each were paid up to date out of 40 instalments. (3) Loan of Rs. 30,000 taken on 11th March 1926, out of which 6 instalments of Rs. 1,404-13 each were paid up to date out of 40 instalments. (4) Loan of Rs. 30,000 taken on 1st February 1928, out of which only 2 instalments of Rs. 1,297-14 each were paid up to date.
(d) Any explanation in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the financial position of the board when such is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.	(d) Rupees 12,037 has been provided in the current year's budget out of the sum of Rs. 24,000 available annually for the improvement of water supply under 45-Civil Works and the balance of Rs. 11,962 (repayment of loan Rs. 4,189 and interest Rs. 7,773) has been provided. If the loan is granted there would be no difficulty in meeting the charges of the above sum. The minus figure shown in column 20 of the application is due to the payment of the cost of the temporary establishment of the cess re-valuation operation, and also due to less collection of cesses on account of famine prevailing in this district.

No. 141.—The 7th June 1929.—The following draft of rules, which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), and in supersession of the previous notification on the subject, No. 5, dated the 12th April 1915, the Governor in Council intends to make for the lines of navigation known as the Eastern Canals and the Outer Boat Route, as defined in notification No. 230, dated the 23rd July 1895, and for the navigable channels extending from Khulna in the district of Khulna to Magura in the district of Jessore, as defined in notification No. 7, dated the 1st September 1914, is hereby published, as required by section 12 of that Act, for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th August 1929, and any objections or suggestions which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft rules.

1. The Superintending Engineer, Southern Circle, may define the limits within which no loading or unloading of cargo from or to vessels or mooring of vessels shall be permitted. The prohibited reaches shall be notified by the supervisor of the channels by posting notices on sign-boards in the locality and also by beat of drum.

2. At places where mooring posts have been provided by the supervisor, vessels desiring to moor shall be made fast to such posts by the bow and stern in a single line along the banks or in such other manner as the supervisor may direct.

3. Vessels, while moored, should be kept as close to the banks as possible. As the water falls, the bow and stern ropes should be slackened and the vessels gradually pushed towards the centre of the channel. During flood tide vessels must be brought as close to the bank as possible.

4. While mooring at the tow-path side all vessels must lower sail and mast and must not erect any high pole, so that the towage of other vessels may not be obstructed.

5. In order to avoid collision or confusion, vessels waiting at the junction of two or more rivers for a favourable tide must be moored at a distance of not less than 1,000 feet from the point of junction.

6. No vessel or raft shall be moored in such a position or navigated in such a way as to endanger the safety or obstruct the passage of other vessels but must be so moored or navigated as prescribed by these rules or as directed by the supervisor of the channel or his assistants.

7. The supervisor may, by posting notices, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or poles in any part of the line of navigation.

8. No jetties, either permanent or temporary, for the purpose of loading or unloading cargo shall be constructed without the previous permission of the supervisor.

9. The supervisor, or an assistant authorised by him, may remove any vessel, anchor, pole, or any other thing which he may find in a position which is in contravention of rules 1 to 8 and may deal with them in such a manner as he thinks necessary.

10. Whenever a laden vessel is seized by the supervisor or by his assistants he shall give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent and require the removal of the cargo without delay, and shall warn him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the same.

11. Vessels plying in the narrow channels mentioned below shall not use sail:—

(a) Guntia Khali khal (in the reach, mile 68 to mile 72).
(b) Cut No. 2 (in the reach, mile 78 to mile 82).
(c) Baitaghata khal (in the reach, mile 102 to mile 107).
(d) Alaipur khal (in the reach, mile 121 to mile 130).
(e) Bemorta khal (in the reach, mile 136 to mile 143).
(f) Damodar khal (in the reach, mile 152 to mile 156).
(g) Banstoli khal (Outer Boat Route).

12. Where there is a tow-path on one bank only, vessels plying with the current shall keep to the opposite bank, and allow towage to those proceeding against the current.

13. No person is permitted to place any obstruction on the channel banks, roads, drains, canal side bridges, etc., which will impede a free passage along them, or cause injury to them, or to commit any nuisance, or to deposit any obnoxious material thereon or in the channel.

14. No person shall deposit goods of any description on the slopes of the channel between the water line and the high bank, without the previous permission of the supervisor except during the actual process of loading or unloading vessels.

15. All timber must be drawn up on to the bank well above the water.

16. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in any part of the line of navigation.

17. All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, between sunset and sunrise, must carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel, where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade Regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first part of this rule. This rule does not apply to small uncovered dinghis, not exceeding 15 feet in length, while moored along the bank.

18. The supervisor may, by posting notices on sign-boards, specify a speed-limit for vessels in any reach.

19. Wrecks.—In the case of a wreck the supervisor or his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

20. It shall be the duty of the supervisor to mark the wreck and to erect warning signals to avoid danger to navigation.

21. If, after seven days of the occurrence of a wreck, prompt measures are not taken by the owner to remove it from the line of navigation, the supervisor, after giving notice to the owner, may arrange for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner. Further, if a wreck obstructs the fairway, the supervisor may take action at once to remove the same and may incur whatever expense is necessary.

22. In the event of the salvage of a wreck being undertaken by the owner of the vessel, or by his agent, and of the obstruction not being removed within seven days, a fine not exceeding Rs. 5 per day for the period commencing from the 8th day of the wreck, or any other day specified by the supervisor, till the wreck is salved, shall be paid by the owner to the supervisor. If the fine be not paid by the owner or his agent, the vessel or any portion of the cargo may be seized by the supervisor and disposed of by sale as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act 5 of 1864.

23. When the supervisor or his assistants remove a wreck, they shall not be liable for any damage to the vessel or cargo, or for any loss before, or in the process of salvage done by them.

24. As soon as a wrecked vessel is salved by the supervisor or his staff, a notice shall be issued by him calling on those concerned to pay to the supervisor all the charges incurred by him on account of the salvage of the vessel or of removing or guarding the cargo under the following heads:—

(i) Actual cost of salving the vessel.
(ii) Cost of serving the notice.
(iii) Cost of removal, maintenance, custody and protection.
(iv) Godown charges.

In case of any dispute regarding such charges, the Executive Engineer concerned, on receipt of a written application from the owner of the vessel, shall decide the amount to be paid and his decision shall be final.

25. The vessel, or its cargo, shall not be handed over to the owner until the charges levied under rule 24 have been paid.

26. If, within fifteen days from the publication of a notice under rule 24, or in the event of an application to the Executive Engineer appealing against the notice within fifteen days of the date of the Executive Engineer's decision, the sum demanded be not paid, the vessel, its furniture and any portion of the cargo recovered, shall be sold by the supervisor, by public auction, and the proceeds dealt with in accordance with section 9 of the Canals Act 5 of 1864.

27. All notices under rules 21, 22 and 24 shall be issued in writing by the supervisor, and despatched in a registered cover to the owner of the vessel. If the owner be not known or cannot be traced, a general notice shall be posted on the notice board of the Executive Engineer's office. Also it shall be announced by beat of drum at the hat nearest to the place of salvage, and also by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta or local newspaper.

28. No officer of any description or rank employed on the canals shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

29. For any infringement of rules 1 to 8 and 11 to 18, the person in charge of the vessel or other person in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 and to an additional fine not exceeding Rs. 5 for each day that the infringement is continued.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India republished for general information.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 10th July 1929.

No. F. 5-R.I./29.—The following correspondence with the Secretary of State for India in Council is published for general information:—

DESPATCH FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA, FINANCE DEPARTMENT TO HIS MAJESTY'S SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, No. 2, DATED THE 7TH MARCH 1929.

We have the honour to address your Lordship on the subject of amplifying the rules concerning fees and honoraria in the Fundamental Rules.

2. Our proposals are the outcome of lengthy discussions with the Auditor General, who has repeatedly brought to our notice the fact that the existing rules are defective in form and content, difficult to apply in audit and illcalculated to secure administrative efficiency. After mature consideration we find ourselves in substantial agreement with him for the following reasons:—

(1) The definition of "honorarium" appearing in Fundamental Rule 9 (9) is too narrow in that it excludes the posibility of recurring payments for a series of services, each of which may properly be rewarded by an honorarium. In such cases the audit authorities have frequently held that these recurring honoraria are indistinguishable from special pay.

(2) The Government of India consider it advantageous to be able to remunerate once for all special work of an occasional character without incurring contingent liabilities for increased leave salary and pension. Sometimes special work of this type recurs periodically, and the purpose of Government will not be served if the payments have to be treated as special pay.

(3) The Government of India have found it inconvenient in practice to have no separate technical terms for payments of this nature to distinguish those derived from Government and those derived from outside sources. The word "fee" used in Fundamental Rule 46 is nowhere defined, and although all payments from outside sources are not by general usage termed "fees," it appears convenient to reserve this term for payments from sources other than general revenues.

(4) The Government of India have observed some inconsistency among sanctioning authorities in the readiness with which they permit a Government servant subordinate to them to accept fees from outside sources. Certain authorities are prone to allow their subordinates to undertake commitments of the sort so arduous that they cannot but have an injurious effect on their efficiency as Government servants. Other authorities are too ready to concede claims in respect of trivial services rendered to local bodies and the like. We, therefore, think it desirable to introduce in the amplified Fundamental Rule 46, which we now submit for your Lordship's consideration, the two essential conditions which, we think, should obtain in all cases where a Government servant is permitted to receive a fee from outside sources.

(5) The Government of India have at times been embarrassed by claim from their servants after the event for some praiseworthy but unessential service, for example the writing of a text-book, which that servant has undertaken without their knowledge and approval. They deem it expedient, therefore, to insert in the rule a provision that except for special reasons an honorarium should not be granted unless the work has been undertaken with the prior consent of the sanctioning authority and its amount has been settled in advance.

3. We enclose draft amendments to Fundamental Rules 9 and 46 which will, in our opinion, conduce both to administrative efficiency and to precision in audit, and at the same time make it clear to Government servants in general the types of service for which honoraria or fees may properly be sanctioned. We hope that these proposals will meet with your Lordship's approval.

4. We take advantage of this opportunity to suggest the adding of a clause to Fundamental Rule 48 to provide for the grant, without specific approval in each individual case, of rewards to officers for services in connection with the administration of the customs and excise laws. Such rewards do not at present fall within the scope of Fundamental Rule 48 (b), and the sanctioning authorities have to see that proper sanction is granted by the competent authority under Fundamental Rule 47, and the rules framed thereunder, for the acceptance of the rewards. The effect of this is that in each case the head of the department has to sanction the acceptance of a reward, and that if the amount of the reward exceeds Rs. 500, the Government of India have to sanction the reward. This procedure causes inconvenience. We, therefore, propose that as in the draft amendment enclosed a clause (d) be added to Fundamental Rule 48, to enable any Government servant to receive a reward of this sort without the special permission of his official superior.

5. If your Lordship approves of our proposals, we desire in publishing the amendments to publish simultaneously this despatch and your Lordship's reply. This will minimise the risk of future misinterpretation of the rules on the subject.

Enclosure to Despatch No. 2 of 1929.

DRAFT AMENDMENTS TO THE FUNDAMENTAL RULES.

Insert the following as Rule 9 (6*a*):—

9 (6*a*). Fee means a recurring or non-recurring payment to a Government servant from a source other than general revenues whether made directly to the Government servant or indirectly through the intermediary of Government.

Rule 9 (9).

Substitute the following for this Rule:—

9 (9). Honorarium means a recurring or non-recurring payment granted to a Government servant from general revenues as remuneration for special work of an occasional character in circumstances which make it appropriate that the additional remuneration should end with the payment of the honorarium itself and should not, by being classified as special pay, count for increased leave salary or increased pension.

Rule 46.

Substitute the following for this Rule:—

46. Fees and Honoraria.—(a) Fees.—A Government servant may be permitted by the general or special order of a competent authority, if it be satisfied that this can be done without detriment to his official duties or responsibilities, to perform a specified service or series of services for a private person or body or for a public body, including a body administering a local fund or for an Indian State, and to receive as remuneration therefor, if the service be material, a non-recurring or recurring fee.

(b) Honoraria.—A Government servant may be granted an honorarium from general revenues as remuneration for work performed, which is occasional in character and either so laborious or of such special merit as to justify a special reward. Except when special reasons, which should be recorded in writing, exist for a departure from this provision, an honorarium should not be granted unless the work has been undertaken with the prior consent of the sanctioning authority and its amount has been settled in advance.

Fees and Honoraria.

(c) In the case of both fees and honoraria the sanctioning authority shall record in writing that due regard has been paid to the general principle enunciated in Fundamental Rule 11, and shall record also the reasons which in his opinion justify the grant of the extra remuneration.

Rule 48.

Substitute the following for this Rule:—

48. Any Government servant is eligible to receive without special permission:—

(a) the premium awarded for an essay or plan in public competition;

(b) any reward offered for the arrest of a criminal, or for information or special service in connection with the administration of justice;

(c) any remuneration or reward payable under any special or local law, or in accordance with the provisions of any Act or regulation or rules framed thereunder; and

(d) any reward sanctioned for services in connection with the administration of the customs and excise laws.

DESPATCH FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL, No. 7-FINANCIAL, DATED THE 25TH APRIL 1929.

[Fundamental Rules. Amplification of Rules concerning fees and honoraria. (F. 1905/29.)]

Having considered in Council the Despatch from Your Excellency's Government in the Finance Department, No. 2, dated 7th March 1929, suggesting an amplification of the rules concerning the acceptance of fees and honoraria in the Fundamental Rules, I concur in the amendments proposed, subject to the points of detail mentioned in the following paragraph.

2. Having regard to the proposed definition of the word "fee" the words "or fee" should be omitted from Rule 47.

The latter part of the proposed Rule 9 (9) does not appear to serve any useful purpose and has accordingly been omitted.

The existing Rule 46, from its phrasing, could scarcely be held to cover the acceptance by medical officers in civil employ of fees for professional attendance, but clause (a) of the draft Rule 46 proposed by Your Excellency's Government is susceptible of this interpretation. I regard it as important that it should be clearly realised that this matter is regulated by the orders of the Secretary of State in Council, and the insertion after clause (a) of a note to this effect seems to me desirable. Further, in order to make it clear that there is no intention to interfere with the existing position, under which the conditions of acceptance of honoraria or fees by medical officers in civil employ for services other than professional attendance is regulated by rules made by the Governor-General in Council, I think it advisable to prefix to both clause (a) and clause (b) of the proposed Rule 46 of words "Subject to rules made by the Governor General in Council under Rule 46A."

3. I enclose a copy of a Resolution passed by me in Council amending the Fundamental Rules as proposed by Your Excellency's Government, with the modifications indicated above.

4. I have no objection to the publication, simultaneously with these amendments, of this Despatch and of the Despatch from Your Excellency's Government to which it replies.

ENCLOSURE.

RESOLUTION.

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 96B of the Government of India Act, the Secretary of State, with the concurrence of the majority of votes at a meeting of the Council of India held this 23rd day of April 1929, hereby makes the following amendments to the Fundamental Rules, namely:—

"Note.—This clause does not apply to the acceptance of fees by medical officers in civil employ for professional attendance, which is regulated by the orders of the Secretary of State in Council.

"(b) Honoraria.—Subject to rules made by the Governor-General in Council under Rule 46A, a Government servant may be granted an honorarium from general revenues as remuneration for work performed which is occasional in character and either so laborious or of such special merit as to justify a special reward. Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

To

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

In accordance with the Legislative Department Resolution, No. 47-I./29-C. & G., dated the 28th March, 1929 (Appendix A), we, the members of the Committee appointed by the Government of India to examine the provisions of the Indian Sale of Goods Bill, have the honour to submit the following report:—

1. The constitution of the Committee was as follows:—

CHAIRMAN.

The Honourable Sir Brojendra Lal Mitter, Kt., Bar-at-Law, Law Member of the Council of the Governor-General.

MEMBERS.

(1) Mr. D. F. Mulla, C.I.E., M.A., LL.B., Officiating Advocate-General, Bombay.

(2) Mr. M. R. Jayakar, M.A., LL.B., Bar-at-Law, M.L.A.

(3) Mr. Alladi Krishnaswamy Ayyar, Advocate-General, Madras.

Mr. W. T. M. Wright, C.I.E., I.C.S., Joint Secretary and Draftsman to the Government of India, Legislative Department, attended the meetings of the Committee, and Mr. J. R. Dhurandhar, LL.B., Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bombay, Legal Department, acted as Secretary to the Committee.

2. The Committee assembled at Simla on the 29th April, 1929, when its first meeting was held, and continued its deliberations daily until the 9th May, 1929. A Bill to amend and define the law relating to the Sale of Goods, with the notes setting forth the reasons for the proposed amendments, which had already been prepared in the Legislative Department of the Government of India, was placed before us, and formed the basis of our discussions.

3. Before the passing of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, Chapter VII, of which contains the law relating to the sale of goods or moveables, the law on this subject was not only not uniform throughout British India but was also, outside the limits of the original jurisdiction of the High Courts, extremely uncertain in its application. Within the limits of the Presidency-towns, the rules of English law, including those in the Statute of Frauds, were applied, whilst in the mofussil it was doubtful whether the Statute of Frauds was applicable and, as observed by the Indian Law Commissioners in their second Report, the Judge was to a great extent without the guidance of any positive law beyond the rule that his decision should be such as he deemed to be in accordance with "justice, equity and good conscience." To remedy this unsatisfactory state of affairs, the Indian Law Commissioners framed, in their second Report, dated the 28th July, 1866, a set of rules relating to the general law of contracts including therein provisions relating to the sale of moveables. The draft of the Law Commissioners underwent several changes at the hands of the then Law Members, Sir Henry Maine and

Sir James Stephen, and also in the Select Committee of the Indian Legislature. But, as stated by Sir James Stephen himself while presenting the Report of the Select Committee on the Indian Contract Bill, the chapter on the sale of goods, except in regard to the rule as to market overt, represented generally the English law on the subject as it then stood.

4. The rules of English law relating to the sale of goods had grown up mainly out of judicial decisions. Along with the general law of contract, they were the product of many generations and were adapted to the circumstances and exigencies of the times and the dealings of the people. They were, however, largely dominated by the provisions of the Statute of Frauds which was passed in the reign of Charles the Second. The Law Commissioners, as well as those who were ultimately responsible for framing the Indian Contract Act, at once realised that the provisions of the Statute of Frauds, although followed in the Presidency-towns, were not suitable to the conditions prevailing in this country, and that "any law relating to this important subject must at any rate be free from the inexpressible confusion and intricacy which is thrown over every part of that Statute in consequence of its vague language."

5. In 1870, various branches of law were being codified in British India. The main object in view was, in the words of Sir James Stephen, "that of providing a body of law to the Government of the country so expressed that it might be readily understood both by English and Native Government servants without extrinsic help from the English law libraries." What was urgently needed was a guide for the judge or magistrate who had but little legal training, derived little or no assistance from the Bar and worked at a distance from any law library.

6. Whatever merit the simple and elementary rules embodied in the Indian Contract Act may have had, and however sufficient and suitable they may have been for the needs which they were intended to meet in 1872, the passage of time has revealed defects the removal of which has become necessary in order to keep the law abreast of the developments of modern business relations. The law relating to the sale of goods appertains mainly to mercantile transactions. There can be no doubt that during the last half-century conditions in this country relating to trade and business have undergone material changes. Methods of business have largely altered and new relations have arisen between man and man. In dealing with these relations, it has been necessary to give recognition to new principles, and the Indian Courts have found that a law enacted more than fifty years ago is entirely inadequate to enable them to deal with these new relations or give effect to the new principles. The result has been that on various occasions the Courts have had to hold that Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act is not exhaustive, and to import therein analogies from the decisions of the English Courts.

7. The English law relating to the sale of goods which was admittedly the basis of Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act has itself since 1872 undergone drastic changes, and was finally codified in 1893 by the present Sale of Goods Act (56 & 57 Vict., C. 71), which discards many of the old common law rules upon which Chapter VII of the Indian Act was based, in favour of provisions more suited to modern conditions or more convenient in actual practice.

8. By the Bill referred for our consideration, the law relating particularly to the sale of goods is embodied in a separate enactment, although many of the general principles contained in the Indian Contract Act will continue to be applicable thereto. When Sir James Stephen moved the Indian Contract Bill, he admitted that it was not, and could not pretend to be, a complete code upon the branch of law to which it related. He, however, expressed a hope that in later years it would be easy to enact supplementary chapters relating to the several branches of the law of contract which the Bill did not touch. This hope has never been fulfilled. In later years it was found more convenient to have separate enactments for the several branches of the law of contract, e.g., the Transfer of Property Act, the Negotiable Instruments Act, and the Merchant Shipping Act. In our opinion, in view of the complexity of modern conditions, the time has now come when this process should be accelerated by embodying the different branches of law relating to contract in separate self-contained enactments; and we hope that the Bill which we attach to our Report may be passed into law at an early date and may be but the first of the series required to complete the task which we have outlined above.

9. The Bill referred to us was mainly based on the English Sale of Goods Act, 1893. This Act has stood the test of nearly thirty-five years of practical application, and in the words of Lord Parker in re Parchim (1918) A. C. 157 at pages 160-161, "is a very successful and correct codification of this branch of the mercantile law." As is shown in Appendix B to our Report, most of the Colonies and Overseas Dominions have adopted and re-enacted the Act with only such small variations as have been found necessary to adapt its provisions to local circumstances. It is also remarkable that the Uniform Sales Act, passed in 1906 in the United States of America and adopted in twenty out of fifty-three States and territories, is based very largely on the English Act. These facts constitute striking evidence of the completeness and the universal suitability of its provisions.

10. In mercantile transactions a conflict of laws should, as far as possible, be avoided. Uniformity of law in various countries, particularly in those which have business or trade dealings with one another, is highly convenient and desirable. We, therefore, approve of the proposal to adopt the provisions of the English Sale of Goods Act so far as they are suitable to Indian conditions as the basis for the present Bill, and thus to make the Indian Law relating to the sale of goods as nearly as possible uniform with the law in force in other parts of the British Empire.

11. The provisions of the English Act are far more elaborate and comprehensive than those of Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act, and in their arrangement the English Act is more logical and methodical. As we have already observed, it has revised and brought up to date the rules of the English Common Law. Moreover, the adoption of the English Act as the basis of the present Bill will enable Indian Courts to interpret its provisions in the light of the decisions of the English Courts.

12. In adopting the provisions of the English Act we have not been unmindful of the needs and exigencies of this country. Wherever it has been found that a rule obtaining in England, such as that relating to market overt, is not suitable to Indian conditions, the rule has been rejected. We have, moreover, carefully scrutinised the provisions of the English Act in the light of the decisions of English Courts since 1893, and where those decisions have shown the provisions of the English Act to be defective or ambiguous, we have attempted to improve upon them. We have also retained several of the provisions of the Indian Contract Act which we consider necessary or useful to meet special conditions existing in India. The Bill as revised by us on the above lines is attached to our Report as Appendix C.

13. A detailed explanation of the various clauses of the Bill is set out in our notes in Appendix D. But we think it desirable to draw attention to the following few points of importance:

(a) The present Bill embodies the principle that the question whether a contract for the sale of goods does or does not pass the property in the goods from the buyer to the seller must in all cases be determined by the intention of the parties to the contract. The provisions of Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act are vague and conflicting on this point. The Bill codifies the rules by which that intention may be ascertained, but the operation of these rules will be displaced by any terms of the contract defining the intention or by any attendant circumstances, including the conduct of the parties, rendering it ascertainable. In following this principle, we have borne in mind that in mercantile matters the certainty of the rule is often of more importance than the substance. If the parties know beforehand what their legal position is, they can provide for their particular wants by express stipulations. Sale, after all, is a consensual contract, and the Bill does not prevent the parties from making any bargain they please. Its object is to lay down clear rules for the cases where the parties have either framed no intention or failed to express it.

(b) The distinction between a sale and an agreement to sell, which was not clear in Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act, has been clearly brought out. This distinction is very necessary to determine the rights and liabilities of the parties to the contract.

(c) It is made clear that a contract of sale can be made by mere offer and acceptance. Neither payment nor delivery is necessary for the purpose.

(d) Before 1893 the law in England relating to warranties and conditions was in a very confused state. In the Indian Contract Act the word "warranty" has been used in a very vague sense. In some provisions it denotes a condition, which would enable a party aggrieved by its breach to repudiate the contract, while in others it enables him to claim damages only. In the Bill this ambiguity has been removed.

(e) There is much conflict of decisions in India regarding the meaning section 108 of the Indian Contract Act which relates to sales by ostensible owners. This is to a certain extent due to the obscure phraseology of the section itself. We have tried to remove this obscurity in clauses 27 to 30 of the Bill to simplify the law on the subject.

(f) We have elaborated the rules relating to delivery to carriers, stoppage in transit and auction sales.

(g) We have anxiously considered the question of the retention of the Illustrations appearing in Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act and of the insertion of Illustrations to new provisions. Our decision is that the better policy is to forego all Illustrations, leaving the Courts to construe the sections as they stand.

14. In conclusion, we desire to place on record our high sense of obligation to Mr. W. T. M. Wright and Mr. J. R. Dhurandhar, who attended the meetings of the Committee and took part in its deliberations. Mr. Wright rendered us great assistance in drafting the clauses of the Bill and in preparing this Report. Mr. Dhurandhar who acted as Secretary brought to bear upon the work great industry in collecting references and otherwise assisting us in the preparation of our notes.

APPENDIX A.

RESOLUTION.

New Delhi, the 28th March 1929.

No. 47-I/29-C. & G.—The Government of India have had under consideration the desirability of codifying the law relating to the sale of goods in a separate enactment which will replace Chapter VII of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. A preliminary draft Bill has been prepared which the Governor-General in Council has decided to remit to a small Committee of experts before it is introduced in the Indian Legislature. The previous examination of a highly technical piece of legislation of this character by a Committee composed of lawyers of eminence will, he feels assured, command general approval. The Committee will be constituted as follows:—

President.—The Honourable Sir B. L. Mitter, Kt., Bar.-at-Law, Law Member of the Council of the Governor-General.

Members.—Mr. D. F. Mulla, C.I.E., M.A., LL.B., Officiating Advocate-General, Bombay, Mr. M. R. Jayakar, M.L.A., Bar.-at-Law, and Mr. Alladi Krishnaswamy Ayyar, Advocate-General, Madras.

The Committee will meet in Simla by the 29th April, 1929. The Government of India hope to introduce the Bill during the next session of the Indian Legislature.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy be forwarded to the Governments of Madras and Bombay, the Home, Finance and Commerce Departments, the Advocate-General of Madras, the Advocate-General of Bombay and Mr. M. R. Jayakar for information.

Ordered also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

3. The unrepealed provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, save in so far as they are inconsistent with the express provisions of this Act, shall continue to apply to contracts for the sale of goods. IX of 1872.

CHAPTER II.

FORMATION OF THE CONTRACT.

Contract of Sale.

Sale and agreement to sell.

4. (1) A contract of sale of goods is a contract whereby the seller transfers or agrees to transfer the property in goods to the buyer for a price. There may be a contract of sale between one part-owner and another.

(2) A contract of sale may be absolute or conditional.

(3) Where under a contract of sale the property in the goods is transferred from the seller to the buyer, the contract is called a sale, but where the transfer of the property in the goods is to take place at a future time or subject to some condition thereafter to be fulfilled, the contract is called an agreement to sell.

(4) An agreement to sell becomes a sale when the time elapses or the conditions are fulfilled subject to which the property in the goods is to be transferred.

Formalities of the Contract.

Contract of sale how made.

5. (1) A contract of sale is made by an offer to buy or sell goods for a price and the acceptance of such offer. The contract may provide for the immediate delivery of the goods or immediate payment of the price or both, or that the delivery or payment or both shall be postponed.

(2) Subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force, a contract of sale may be made in writing or by word of mouth, or partly in writing and partly by word of mouth or may be implied from the conduct of the parties.

Subject-matter of Contract.

Existing or future goods.

6. (1) The goods which form the subject of a contract of sale may be either existing goods, owned or possessed by the seller, or future goods.

(2) There may be a contract for the sale of goods the acquisition of which by the seller depends upon a contingency which may or may not happen.

(3) Where by a contract of sale the selller purports to effect a present sale of future goods, the contract operates as an agreement to sell the goods.

Goods perishing before making of contract.

7. Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods, the contract is void if the goods without the knowledge of the seller have, at the time when the contract was made, perished or become so damaged as no longer to answer to their description in the contract.

Goods perishing before sale but after agreement to sell.

8. Where there is an agreement to sell specific goods, the agreement becomes void if, subsequently thereto and before the risk passes to the buyer, the goods without any fault on the part of the seller or buyer perish or become so damaged as no longer to answer to their description in the contract.

The Price.

Ascertainment of price.

9. (1) The price in a contract of sale may be fixed by the contract or may be left to be fixed in manner thereby agreed or may be determined by the course of dealing between the parties.

(2) Where the price is not determined in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the buyer is to pay the seller a reasonable price. What is a reasonable price is a question of fact dependent on the circumstances of each particular case.

Agreement to sell at valuation.

10. (1) Where there is an agreement to sell goods on the terms that the price is to be fixed by the valuation of a third party and such third party cannot or does not make such valuation, the agreement becomes void:

Provided that, if the goods or any part thereof have been delivered to, and appropriated by, the buyer, he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

(2) Where such third party is prevented from making the valuation by the fault of the seller or buyer, the party not in fault may maintain a suit for damages against the party in fault.

Conditions and Warranties.

Stipulations as to time.

11. Unless a different intention appears from the terms of the contract, stipulations as to time of payment are not deemed to be of the essence of a contract of sale. Whether any other stipulation as to time is of the essence of the contract or not depends on the terms of the contract.

Condition and warranty.

12. (1) A stipulation in a contract of sale with reference to goods which are the subject thereof may be a condition or a warranty.

(2) A condition is a stipulation essential to the main purpose of the contract, the breach of which gives rise to a right to treat the contract as repudiated.

(3) A warranty is a stipulation collateral to the main purpose of the contract, the breach of which gives rise to a claim for damages but not to a right to reject the goods.

(4) Whether a stipulation in a contract of sale is a condition or a warranty depends in each case on the construction of the contract. The stipulation may be a condition, though called a warranty in the contract.

When condition to be treated as warranty.

13. (1) Where a contract of sale is subject to any condition to be fulfilled by the seller, the buyer may waive the condition or elect to treat the breach of the condition as a breach of warranty and not as a ground for treating the contract as repudiated.

(2) Where a contract of sale is not severable and the buyer has accepted the goods or part thereof, or where the contract is for specific goods the property in which has passed to the buyer, the breach of any condition to be fulfilled by the seller can only be treated as a breach of warranty and not as a ground for rejecting the goods and treating the contract as repudiated, unless there is a term of the contract, express or implied, to that effect.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the case of any condition or warranty fulfilment of which is excused by law by reason of impossibility or otherwise.

Implied undertaking as to title, etc.

14. In a contract of sale, unless the circumstances of the contract are such as to show a different intention, there is—

(a) an implied condition on the part of the seller that, in the case of a sale, he has a right to sell the goods and that, in the case of an agreement to sell, he will have a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass;

(b) an implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods;

(c) an implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any charge or encumbrance in favour of any third party not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time when the contract is made.

Sale by description.

15. Where there is a contract for the sale of goods by description, there is an implied condition that the goods shall correspond with the description; and, if the sale is by sample as well as by description, it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods corresponds with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description.

Implied conditions as to quality or fitness.

16. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any other law for the time being in force, there is no implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied under a contract of sale, except as follows:—

(1) Where the buyer, expressly or by implication, makes known to the seller the particular purpose for which the goods are required, so as to show that the buyer relies on the seller's skill or judgment, and the goods are of a description which it is in the course of the seller's business to supply (whether he is the manufacturer or producer or not), there is an implied condition that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose:

Provided that, in the case of a contract for the sale of a specified article under its patent or other trade name, there is no implied condition as to its fitness for any particular purpose.

(2) Where goods are brought by description from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he is the manufacturer or producer or not) there is an implied condition that the goods shall be of merchantable quality:

Provided that, if the buyer has examined the goods, there shall be no implied condition as regards defects which such examination ought to have revealed.

(3) An implied warranty or condition as to quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed by the usage of trade.

(4) An express warranty or condition does not negative a warranty or condition implied by this Act unless inconsistent therewith.

Sale by sample.

17. (1) A contract of sale is a contract for sale by sample where there is a term in the contract, express or implied, to that effect.

(2) In the case of a contract for sale by sample there is an implied condition—

(a) that the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality;

(b) that the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample;

(c) that the goods shall be free from any defect, rendering them unmerchantable, which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample;

CHAPTER III.

EFFECTS OF THE CONTRACT.

Transfer of property as between seller and buyer.

Goods must be ascertained.

18. Where there is a contract for the sale of unascertained goods, no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer unless and until the goods are ascertained.

Property passes when intended to pass.

19. (1) Where there is a contract for the sale of specific or ascertained goods the property in them is transferred to the buyer at such time as the parties to the contract intend it to be transferred.

(2) For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties regard shall be had to the terms of the contract, the conduct of the parties and the circumstances of the case.

(3) Unless a different intention appears, the rules contained in sections 20 to 24 are rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer.

Specific goods in a deliverable state.

20. Where there is an unconditional contract for the sale of specific goods in a deliverable state, the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made, and it is immaterial whether the time of payment of the price or the time of delivery of the goods, or both, is postponed.

Specific goods to be put into a deliverable state.

21. Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods and the seller is bound to do something to the goods for the purpose of putting them into a deliverable state, the property does not pass until such thing is done and the buyer has notice thereof.

Specific goods in a deliverable state, when seller has to do anything thereto in order to ascertain price.

22. Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods in a deliverable state, but the seller is bound to weigh, measure, test or do some other act or thing with reference to the goods for the purpose of ascertaining the price, the property does not pass until such act or thing is done and the buyer has notice thereof.

Sale of unascertained goods and appropriation.

23. (1) Where there is a contract for the sale of unascertained or future goods by description and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract, either by the seller with the assent of the buyer or by the buyer with the assent of the seller, the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer. Such assent may be express or implied, and may be given either before or after the appropriation is made.

Delivery of carrier.

(2) Where, in pursuance of the contract, the seller delivers the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee (whether named by the buyer or not) for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, and does not reserve the right of disposal, he is deemed to have unconditionally appropriated the goods to the contract.

Goods sent on approval or "on sale or return".

24. When goods are delivered to the buyer on approval or "on sale or return" or other similar terms, the property therein passes to the buyer—

(a) when he signifies his approval or acceptance to the seller or does any other act adopting the transaction;

(b) if he does not signify his approval or acceptance to the seller but retains the goods without giving notice of rejection, then, if a time has been fixed for the return of the goods, on the expiration of such time, and, if no time has been fixed, on the expiration of a reasonable time.

Reservation of right of disposal.

25. (1) Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods or where goods are subsequently appropriated to the contract, the seller may, by the terms of the contract or appropriation, reserve the right of disposal of the goods until certain condtions are fulfilled. In such case, notwithstanding the delivery of the goods to a buyer, or to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, the property in the goods does not pass to the buyer until the conditions imposed by the seller are fulfilled.

(2) Where goods are shipped and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the order of the seller or his agent, the seller is prima facie deemed to reserve the right of disposal.

(3) Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the bill of exchange and bill of lading to the buyer together, to secure acceptance or payment of the bill of exchange, the buyer is bound to return the bill of lading if he does not honour the bill of exchange and if he wrongfully retains the bill of lading the property in the goods does not pass to him.

Risk prima facie passes with property.

26. Unless otherwise agreed, the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer, but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer, the goods are at the buyer's risk whether delivery has been made or not:

Provided that, where delivery has been delayed through the fault of either buyer or seller, the goods are at the risk of the party in fault as regards any loss which might not have occurred but for such fault:

Provided also that nothing in this section shall affect the duties or liabilities of either seller or buyer as a bailee of the goods of the other party.

Sale by person not the owner.

27. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any other law for the time being in force, where goods are sold by a person who is not the owner thereof and who does not sell them under the authority or with the consent of the owner, the buyer acquires no better title to the goods than the seller had, unless the owner of the goods is by his conduct precluded from denying the seller's authority to sell:

Provided that where an agent, having in the customary course of his business authority to sell goods or to consign goods for the purpose of sale or to buy goods or to raise money on the security of goods, is, with the consent of the owner, in possession of goods or of the documents of title to goods, any sale of the goods made by him shall be as valid as if he were expressly authorised by the owner of the goods to make the same; provided that the buyer acts in good faith and has not at the time of the contract of sale notice that the seller has not authority to sell.

Sale by one of joint owners.

28. If one of several joint owners of goods has the sole possession of them by permission of the co-owners, the property in the goods is transferred to any person who buys them of such joint owner in good faith and has not at the time of the contract of sale notice that the seller has not authority to sell.

Sale by persons having voidable title.

29. Where the seller of goods has a voidable title thereto but his title has not been avoided at the time of the sale, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods if he buys them in good faith and without notice to the seller's defect of title and if the circumstances rendering the contract voidable have not amounted to an offence committed by the seller or a person through or under whom the seller claims.

Seller or buyer in possession after sale.

30. (1) Where a person, having sold goods, continues or is in possession of the goods or of the documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person of the goods or documents of title under any sale, pledge or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith and without notice of the previous sale shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were expressly authorised by the owner of the goods to make the same.

(2) Where a person, having bought or agreed to buy goods, obtains, with the consent of the seller, possession of the goods or the documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person of the goods or documents of title under any sale, pledge or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith and without notice of any lien or other right of the original seller in respect of the goods shall have effect as if such lien or right did not exist.

CHAPTER IV.

PERFORMANCE OF THE CONTRACT.

Duties of seller and buyer.

31. It is the duty of the seller to deliver the goods and of the buyer to accept and pay for them, in accordance with the terms of the contract of sale.

Payment and delivery are concurrent conditions.

32. Unless otherwise agreed, delivery of the goods and payment of the price are concurrent conditions, that is to say, the seller must be ready and willing to give possession of the goods to the buyer in exchange for the price, and the buyer must be ready and willing to pay the price in exchange for possession of the goods.

Delivery.

33. Delivery of goods sold may be made by doing anything which the parties agree shall be treated as delivery or which has the effect of putting the goods in the possession of the buyer or of any person authorised to hold them on his behalf.

Effect of part delivery.

34. A delivery of part of goods, in progress of the delivery of the whole, has the same effect, for the purpose of passing the property in such goods as a delivery of the whole; but a delivery of part of the goods, with an intention of severing it from the whole, does not operate as a delivery of the remainder.

Buyer to apply for delivery.

35. Apart from any express contract the seller of goods is not bound to deliver them until the buyer applies for delivery.

Rules as to delivery.

36. (1) Whether it is for the buyer to take possession of the goods or for the seller to send them to the buyer is a question depending in each case on the contract, express or implied, between the parties.

(2) Apart from any contract, express or implied, as to place of delivery, goods sold are to be delivered at the place at which they are at the time of the sale, and goods contracted to be sold are to be delivered at the place at which they are at the time of the contract for sale, or, if not then in existence, at the place at which they are manufactured or produced.

(3) Where under the contract of sale the seller is bound to send the goods to the buyer, but no time for sending them is fixed, the seller is bound to send them within a reasonable time.

(4) Where the goods at the time of sale are in the possession of a third person, there is no delivery by seller to buyer unless and until such third person acknowledges to the buyer that he holds the goods on his behalf:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the operation of the issue or transfer of any document of title to goods.

(5) Demand or tender of delivery may be treated as ineffectual unless made at a reasonable hour. What is a reasonable hour is a question of fact.

(6) Unless otherwise agreed, the expenses of and incidental to putting the goods into a deliverable state must be borne by the seller.

Delivery of wrong quantity.

37. (1) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods less than he contracted to sell, the buyer may reject them, but if the buyer accepts the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate.

(2) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods larger than he contracted to sell, the buyer may accept the goods included in the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole. If the buyer accepts the whole of the goods so delivered, he must pay for them at the contract rate.

(3) Where the seller delivers to the buyer the goods he contracted to sell mixed with goods of a different description not included in the contract, the buyer may accept the goods which are in accordance with the contract and reject the rest, or may reject the whole.

(4) The provisions of this section are subject to any usage of trade, special agreement or course of dealing between the parties.

Instalment deliveries.

38. (1) Unless otherwise agreed, the buyer of goods is not bound to accept delivery thereof by instalments.

(2) Where there is a contract for the sale of goods to be delivered by stated instalments which are to be separately paid for, and the seller makes no delivery or defective delivery in respect of one or more instalments, or the buyer neglects or refuses to take delivery of or pay for one or more instalments, it is a question in each case depending on the terms of the contract and the circumstances of the case, whether the breach of contract is a repudiation of the whole contract, or whether it is a severable breach giving rise to a claim for compensation, but not to a right to treat the whole contract as repudiated.

Delivery to carrier or wharfinger.

39. (1) Where, in pursuance of a contract of sale, the seller is authorised or required to send the goods to the buyer, delivery of the goods to a carrier, whether named by the buyer or not, for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, or delivery of the goods to a wharfinger for safe custody, is prima facie deemed to be a delivery of the goods to the buyer.

(2) Unless otherwise authorised by the buyer, the seller must make such contract with the carrier or wharfinger on behalf of the buyer as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and the other circumstances of the case. If the seller omits so to do, and the goods are lost or damaged in course of transit or whilst in the custody of the wharfinger, the buyer may decline to treat the delivery to the carrier or wharfinger as a delivery to himself, or may hold the seller responsible in damages.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are send by the seller to the buyer by a route involving sea transit, in circumstances in which it is usual to insure, the seller must give such notice to the buyer as may enable him to insure them during their sea transit, and if the seller fails so to do, the goods shall be deemed to be at his risk during such sea transit.

Risk where goods delivered at distant place.

40. Where the seller of goods agrees to deliver them at his own risk at a place other than that where they are when sold, the buyer must, nevertheless, unless otherwise agreed, take any risk of deterioration in the goods necessarily incident to the course of transit.

Buyer's right of examining the goods.

41. (1) Where goods are delivered to the buyer which he has not previously examined, he is not deemed to have accepted them unless and until he has had a reasonable opportunity of examining them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, when the seller tenders delivery of goods to the buyer, he is bound, on request, to afford the buyer a reasonable opportunity of examining the goods for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

Acceptance.

42. The buyer is deemed to have accepted the goods when he intimates to the seller that he has accepted them, or when the goods have been delivered to him and he does any act in relation to them which is inconsistent with the ownership of the seller, or when, after the lapse of a reasonable time, he retains the goods without intimating to the seller that he has rejected them.

Buyer not bound to return rejected goods.

43. Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are delivered to the buyer and he refuses to accept them, having the right so to do, he is not bound to return them to the seller, but it is sufficient if he intimates to the seller that he refuses to accept them.

Liability of buyer for neglecting or refusing delivery of goods.

44. When the seller is ready and willing to deliver the goods and requests the buyer to take delivery, and the buyer does not wihtin a reasonable time after such request take delivery of the goods, he is liable to the seller for any loss occasioned by his neglect or refusal to take delivery, and also for a reasonable charge for the care and custody of the goods:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the rights of the seller where the neglect or refusal of the buyer to take delivery amounts to a repudiation of the contract.

CHAPTER V.

RIGHTS OF UNPAID SELLER AGAINST THE GOODS.

"Unpaid seller" defined.

45. (1) The seller of goods is deemed to be an "unpaid seller" within the meaning of this Act—

(a) when the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered;

(b) when a bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument has been received as conditional payment, and the condition on which it was received has not been fulfilled by reason of the dishonour of the instrument or otherwise.

(2) In this Chapter, the term "seller" includes any person who is in the position of a seller, as, for instance, an agent of the seller to whom the bill of lading has been indorsed, or a consignor or agent who has himself paid, or is directly responsible for, the price.

Unpaid seller's rights.

46. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any law for the time being in force, notwithstanding that the property in the goods may have passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller of goods, as such, has by implication of law—

(a) a lien on the goods for the price while he is in possession of them;

(b) in case of the insolvency of the buyer a right of stopping the goods in transit after he has parted with the possession of them;

(c) a right of resale as limited by this Act.

(2) Where the property in goods has not passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller has, in addition to his other remedies, a right of withholding delivery similar to and co-extensive with his rights of lien and stoppage in transit where the property has passed to the buyer.

Unpaid seller's lien.

Seller's lien.

47. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the unpaid seller of goods who is in possession of them is entitled to retain possession of them until payment or tender of the price in the following cases, namely:—

(a) where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit;

(b) where the goods have been sold on credit, but the term of credit has expired;

(c) where the buyer becomes insolvent.

(2) The seller may exercise his right of lien notwithstanding he is in possession of the goods as agent or bailee for the buyer.

Part delivery.

48. Where an unpaid seller has made part delivery of the goods, he may exercise his right of lien on the remainder, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement to waive the lien.

Termination of lien.

49. (1) The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien thereon—

(a) when he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the right of disposal of the goods;

(b) when the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods;

(c) by waiver thereof.

(2) The unpaid seller of goods, having a lien thereon, does not lose his lien by reason only that he has obtained a decree for the price of the goods.

Stoppage in transit.

Right of stoppage in transit.

50. Subject to the provisions of this Act, when the buyer of goods becomes insolvent, the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transit, that is to say, he may resume possession of the goods as long as they are in the course of transit, and may retain them until payment or tender of the price.

Duration of transit.

51. (1) Goods are deemed to be in course of transit from the time when they are delivered to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, until the buyer or his agent in that behalf takes delivery of them from such carrier or other bailee.

(2) If the buyer or his agent in that behalf obtains delivery of the goods before their arrival at the appointed destination, the transit is at an end.

(3) If, after the arrival of the goods at the appointed destination, the carrier or other bailee acknowledges to the buyer or his agent that he holds the goods on his behalf and continues in possession of them as bailee for the buyer or his agent, the transit is at an end and it is immaterial that a further destination for the goods may have been indicated by the buyer.

(4) If the goods are rejected by the buyer and the carrier or other bailee continues in possession of them, the transit is not deemed to be at an end, even if the seller has refused to receive them back.

(5) When goods are delivered to a ship chartered by the buyer, it is a question depending on the circumstances of the particular case, whether they are in the possession of the master as a carrier or as agent of the buyer.

(6) Where the carrier or other bailee wrongfully refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer or his agent in that behalf, the transit is deemed to be at an end.

(7) Where part delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer or his agent in that behalf, the remainder of the goods may be stopped in transit, unless such part delivery has been given in such circumstances as to show an agreement to give up possession of the whole of the goods.

How stoppage in transit is effected.

52. (1) The unpaid seller may exercise his right of stoppage in transit either by taking actual possession of the goods, or by giving notice of his claim to the carrier or other bailee in whose possession the goods are. Such notice may be given either to the person in actual possession of the goods or to his principal. In the latter case the notice, to be effectual, must be given at such time and in such circumstances that the principal, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, may communicate it to his servant or agent in time to prevent a delivery to the buyer.

(2) When notice of stoppage in transit is given by the seller to the carrier or other bailee in possession of the goods, he must re-deliver the goods to, or according to the directions of, the seller. The expenses of such re-delivery must be borne by the seller.

Re-sale.

Effect of sub-sale or pledge by buyer.

53. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transit is not affected by any sale or other disposition of the goods which the buyer may have made, unless the seller has assented thereto:

Provided that where a document of title to goods has been issued or lawfully transferred to any person as buyer or owner of the goods, and that person transfers the document to a person who takes the document in good faith and for consideration, then, if such last-mentioned transfer was by way of sale, the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transit is defeated, and, if such last-mentioned transfer was by way of pledge or other disposition for value, the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transit can only be exercised subject to the rights of the transferee.

(2) Where the transfer is by way of pledge, the unpaid seller may required the pledgee to have the amount secured by the pledge satisfied in the first instance, as far as possible, out of any other goods or securities of the buyer in the hands of the pledgee and available against the buyer.

Sale not generally rescinded by lien or stoppage in transit.

54. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a contract of sale is not rescinded by the mere exercise of an unpaid seller of his right of lien or stoppage in transit.

(2) Where the goods are of a perishable nature, or where the unpaid seller who has exercised his right of lien or stoppage in transit gives notice to the buyer of his intention to re-sell, the unpaid seller may, if the buyer does not within a reasonable time pay or tender the price, re-sell the goods and recover from the original buyer damages for any loss occasioned by his breach of contract, but the buyer shall not be entitled to any profit which may occur on the re-sale. If such notice is not given, the unpaid seller shall not be entitled to recover such damages and the buyer shall be entitled to the profit, if any, on the re-sale.

(3) Where an unpaid seller who has exercised his right of lien or stoppage in transit re-sells the goods, the buyer acquires a good title thereto as against the original buyer, notwithstanding that no notice of the re-sale has been given to the original buyer.

(4) Where the seller expressly reserves a right of re-sale in case the buyer should make default, and on the buyer making default, re-sells the goods, the original contract of sale is thereby rescinded, but without prejudice to any claim which the seller may have for damages.

CHAPTER VI.

SUITS FOR BREACH OF THE CONTRACT.

Remedies of the seller.

Suit for price.

55. (1) Where under a contract of sale the property in the goods has passed to the buyer and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay for the goods according to the terms of the contract, the seller may sue him for the price of the goods.

(2) Where under a contract of sale the price is payable on a day certain irrespective of delivery and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price, the seller may sue him for the price although the property in the goods has not passed and the goods have not been appropriated to the contract.

Damages for non acceptance.

56. Where the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to accept and pay for the goods, the seller may sue him for damages for non-acceptance.

Damages for non-delivery.

57. Where the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer, the buyer may sue the seller for damages for non-delivery.

Specific performance.

58. Subject to the provisions of Chapter II of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, in any suit for breach of contract to deliver specific or ascertained goods, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the plaintiff, by its decree direct that the contract shall be performed specifically, without giving the defendant the option of retaining the goods on payment of damages. The decree may be unconditional, or upon such terms and conditions as to damages, payment of the price or otherwise, as the Court may deem just, and the application of the plaintiff may be made at any time before the decree.

Remedy for breach of warranty.

59. (1) Where there is a breach of warranty by the seller, or where the buyer elects or is compelled to treat any breach of a condition on the part of the seller as a breach of warranty, the buyer is not by reason only of such breach of warranty entitled to reject the goods; but he may—

(a) set up against the seller the breach of warranty in diminution or extinction of the price; or

(b) sue the seller for damages for breach of warranty.

(2) The fact that a buyer has set up a breach of warranty in diminution or extinction of the price does not prevent him from suing for the same breach of warranty if he has suffered further damage.

Repudiation of contract before due date.

60. Where either party to a contract of sale repudiates the contract before the date of delivery, the other may either treat the contract as subsisting and wait till the date of delivery, or he may treat the contract as rescinded and sue for damages for the breach.

Interest by way of damages and special damages.

61. (1) Nothing in this Act shall affect the right of the seller or the buyer to recover interest or special damages in any case where by law interest or special damages may be recoverable, or to recover the money paid where the consideration for the payment of it has failed.

(2) In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the Court may award interest at such rate as it thinks fit on the amount of the price—

(a) to the seller in a suit by him for the amount of the price—from the date of the tender of the goods or from the date on which the price was payable;

(b) to the buyer in a suit by him for the refund of the price in a case of a breach of the contract on the part of the seller—from the date on which the payment was made.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Exclusion of implied terms and conditions.

62. Where any right, duty or liability would arise under a contract of sale by implication of law, it may be negatived or varied by express agreement or by the course of dealing between the parties, or by usage, if the usage is such as to bind both parties to the contract.

Reasonable time a question of fact.

63. Where in this Act any reference is made to a reasonable time, the question what is a reasonable time is a question of fact.

Auction sale.

64. In the case of a sale by auction—

(1) where goods are put up for sale in lots, each lot is prima facie deemed to be the subject of a separate contract of sale;

(2) the sale is complete when the auctioneer announces its completion by the fall of the hammer or in other customary manner; and, until such announcement is made, any bidder may retract his bid;

(3) a right to bid may be reserved expressly by or on behalf of the seller and, where such right is expressly so reserved, but not otherwise, the seller or any one person on his behalf may, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, bid at the auction;

(4) where the sale is not notified to be subject to a right to bid on behalf of the seller, it shall not be lawful for the seller to bid himself or to employ any person to bid at such sale, or for the auctioneer knowingly to take any bid from the seller or any such person; and any sale contravening this rule may be treated as fraudulent by the buyer;

(5) the sale may be notified to be subject to a reserved or upset price;

(6) if the seller makes use of pretended bidding to raise the price, the sale is voidable at the option of the buyer.

Repeal.

65. Sections 76 to 123 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, are hereby repealed. IX of 1872.

Savings.

66. (1) Nothing in this Act or in any repeal effected thereby shall affect or be deemed to affect—

(a) any right, title, interest, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred before the commencement of this Act, or

(b) any legal proceedings or remedy in respect of any such right, title, interest, obligation or liability, or

(c) anything done or suffered before the commencement of this Act, or

(d) any enactment relating to the sale of goods which is not expressly repealed by this Act, or

(e) any rule of law not inconsistent with this Act.

(2) The rules of insolvency relating to contracts for the sale of goods shall continue to apply thereto, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act.

(3) The provisions of this Act relating to contracts of sale do not apply to any transaction in the form of a contract of sale which is intended to operate by way of mortgage, pledge, charge or other security.

APPENDIX D.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—The definitions in this clause have been taken from section 62 of the English Sale of Goods Act, 1893 (56 & 57 Vict. C. 71). In regard to the definition of the term "document of title" the term has been used in sections 102, 103, 108 and 178 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. It has been held by the Privy Council in Ramdas vs. Amar Chand 43 I. A. 164 that it has the same meaning as it had in the Indian Factors Act of 1840 which is wider than the definition in the English Act. We have therefore enlarged the definition accordingly.

In the definition of the term "goods" we have included shares. In Fazal vs. Mangal Das I. L. R. 46, Bom. 489, it was held that the term "goods" as used in Chapter VII of the Indian Act, 1872, has a much wider sense than it has in the English Law, and includes share certificates. The term "future goods" although not very happy has been held to be convenient. [Ajello vs. Worsley (1898), 1 Ch. at p. 280.] We have therefore retained it and defined it on the lines of the English Act with the addition of the words "or produced" to include agricultural products specifically.

We have added the definition of the word "price" as used in the English Act.

Clause 3.—Though the chapter on the sale of goods has been taken out of the Indian Contract Act, the Bill will form part of the general law of contract. We have therefore provided in this clause that the general provisions of the Indian Contract Act shall continue to be applicable to contracts of sale of goods in so far as they are not inconsistent with the special provisions of the Bill.

Clause 4.—Considerable confusion has been caused by the definition of sale in section 77 read with section 78 of the Indian Act of which the marginal note is "Sale how effected". The last two paragraphs of section 78 contain a good many words which are unnecessary and only create confusion.

It will be observed from the definition of "contract of sale" in the English Act that it comprises two things, namely, (i) sale, and (ii) agreement to sell. It may perhaps be said that, having regard to the sharp distinction that has been maintained in the Indian Act between an agreement and a contract [see section 2, sub-sections (e) and (h) and section 10], it is not desirable to use the expression "agreement to sell". The answer to that is that as the chapter of the sale of goods now stands in the Indian Act, the expression "sale", "contract of sale", conract for the sale of goods and "agreement for sale" are used more or less indiscriminately. The intention appears to be to maintain a distinction between "sale" on the one hand and "contract of sale" on the other, corresponding with "agreement to sell" in the English Act. The point, however, is that the expression "agreement for sale" is used at least twice in the chapter, namely, in sections 83 and 85 and no confusion has ever been created.

The expressions used in the present clause and in subsequent clauses of this Bill are "transfer, or passing, of property in goods". The Indian Act uses several expressions in the different sections of the chapter on the sale of goods, namely, "transfer of ownership", "completion of sale", and "passing of property" indiscriminately in more or less the same sense. We think it is desirable to use the expression "transfer" (or "passing") "of property" throughout the Bill.

The meaning of the word "property" is made clear in clause 2 (12).

Clause 5.—Sub-clause (1) of this clause is based on the general principle laid down in the Indian Act that a contract is effected by an offer and an acceptance accompanied by consideration. The corresponding section in the Indian Act is section 78. It refers to the making of a sale as well as to the passing of property. In our opinion it is desirable to keep the two matters separate. So far as the making of a sale is concerned, section 78 seems to be open to the following objections:—

(i) Although by its marginal note it purports to lay down a rule relating to sales generally, it deals only with the simplest case of a sale of ascertained goods for a fixed price.

(ii) After stating that a sale can be effected by offer and acceptance of goods for a price and vice versa, it goes on to enumerate various circumstances which would constitute a sale. This enumeration or description is neither accurate nor complete, and should not find a place in a provision which is of a declaratory nature.

(iii) The acceptance referred to in the section is the acceptance of goods as distinguished from the acceptance of the offer. The expression 'acceptance' used in connection with goods has a special meaning of its own which is given in clause 42 of this Bill.

(iv) The section states that part delivery along with offer and acceptance is sufficient to constitute a sale. But, in order to effect a complete sale, part delivery must be made in course of delivery of the whole. The provisions of this section had therefore to be read subject to the provisions of section 92 [I. L. R. 15, Cal. 1, at page 6].

The latter part of the section which refers to the passing of property will be considered when the provisions relating to the effects of a contract are dealt with in our comments upon Chapter III of this Bill.

Sub-clause (2) of this clause is based on section 10 (2) of the Indian Act and section 3 of the English Act. Having regard to the words "subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force", we have omitted the proviso relating to corporations which occurs in the English section.

Clause 6.—This clause is taken from section 5 of the English Act.

As to sub-clause (2), reference may be made to sections 31 to 36 of the Indian Act which deal with contingent contracts. Sub-clause (3) makes it clear that a contract for the sale of future goods operates as an agreement to sell. The rules embodied in this clause have been well recognised in English Law (vide Benjamin on Sale, p. 159, Ed. 6th), and have also been adopted in sections 87 and 88 of the Indian Act. Sections 87 and 88 do not, however, contain a complete statement of law on the subject. We think that it is desirable to lay down on the lines of the English section a distinct rule declaring that a contract which purports to effect a present sale of future goods operates only as an agreement to sell. The question regarding the transfer of property in such cases should be dealt with separately (vide clause 20).

Clause 7.—This clause follows section 6 of the English Act. The rule is based either on the ground of mutual mistake or on the ground of impossibility of performance (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 30, Ed. 10th). Although in Chapter VII of the Indian Act there is no specific provision corresponding to this clause, the general principle underlying it is provided for in section 20 [vide Illustrations (a) and (b) to that section]. Sections 6 and 7 of the English Act use the words 'perish' and 'perished'. In regard to those words some writers observe that goods must be deemed to have 'perished' not only if they are physically destroyed, but also if they have ceased to exist in a commercial sense, that is, if their merchantable character, as such, has been lost [vide Benjamin on Sale, p. 161; Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, p. 145]. Chalmers in his book on the Sale of Goods is inclined to think that in such cases the only question is whether the article has been so far destroyed as no longer to answer the description of it given by the contract (p. 30). It, however, appears that the cases relied upon for giving to the term 'perish' an extended meaning in the sense of deterioration in merchantable quality were not decided with reference to section 6 or section 7 of the English Act. The word 'perishable' occurs also in section 48 of the English Act, which has been adopted in the present Bill (vide clause 54). The writers mentioned above seem to be of opinion that with reference to that section also the goods will be considered as of a perishable nature, not only when they are such as to deteriorate physically by being kept, but also when they are such as to be subject to deterioration in a commercial sense, so as to be likely to become unmerchantable as such [Benjamin on Sale, p. 1085, Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, p. 264]. Although there is no direct authority on the point, there seems to be a strong opinion in favour of the view that the import of the word 'perish' is not to be restricted to mere physical destruction. We agree in that opinion and have accordingly made it clear that the goods must have been either physically destroyed or so damaged as not to answer the description given in the contract. With this alteration we have adopted the provisions of section 6 of the English Act.

The question whether by reason of the partial loss of the goods they should be deemed to have ceased to exist within the meaning of this clause so as to make the contract void would depend on the circumstances of each case. The point in such a case would be whether the contract was entire or divisible [cf. Barrow v. Phillip (1929) 1 K. B. 574].

In the course of the discussions on clauses 7 and 8, a point was raised that inasmuch as under the terms of the two clauses the agreement is either void or the contract becomes void, these clauses might have the effect of rendering void every kind of contract relating to the sale of goods, lost or not lost, and that they might have the effect of hitting at c. i. f. contracts. It was urged that a c. i. f. contract was also a sale of goods, though to be performed by the tender of documents, and such a contract might not be saved even by the terms of clause 62 of this Bill corresponding to section 55 of the English Act. We, however, think that clause 62 is comprehensive enough in its terms and that c. i. f. contracts would be saved by the clause. We are fortified in our conclusion by the opinion of Mr. Chalmers on page 31 of his commentary on the Sale of Goods Act.

Clause 8.—This clause relates to the impossibility of performance arising after the contract is made and is based on section 7 of the English Act. It is true that Chapter VII of the Indian Act does not contain a specific provision on the point. But the principle is well established and underlies section 56 of the Indian Act. We think it is desirable that it should be included in the present Bill as a specific provision. For the reasons stated in the note to the preceding clause, this clause has been framed to cover the case of goods which are so far damaged as not to answer the description given by the contract. The words 'the agreement is avoided' occurring in section 7 of the English Act are ambiguous. A question might arise by whom the agreement is to be avoided. We have, therefore, substituted the words 'the agreement becomes void' for those words.

Clause 9.—This clause is based on section 8 of the English Act. Section 89 of the Indian Act, which corresponds to that section, is not so comprehensive as the English section. It merely contains the provision which is enacted in sub-section (2) of the English section. The principle in sub-section (1) of the English Act is left to be inferred from section 78. We prefer to adopt the arrangement of the English section.

Clause 10.—This clause is a corollary to the preceding clause. It is not uncommon for the parties to agree that the price of the goods will be fixed by valuers appointed by them. In such cases they are bound by the bargain, and the price so fixed is as much part of the contract as if fixed by themselves. But it is essential for the formation of the contract that the price should be fixed in accordance with this agreement, and if the parties appointed as valuers fail or refuse to act, the agreement becomes void [Benjamin on Sale, p. 169; Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, p. 148]. This principle is provided for in section 9 of the English Act and has been reproduced in this clause.

Clause 11.—This clause is based on section 10 of the English Act. The principle underlying that section is to be found in section 55 of the Indian Act. In our opinion the present Bill should contain a specific provision on the point. As the General Clauses Act, 1897, contains a definition of the word 'month', sub-section (2) of the English section has been omitted.

Clause 12.—The English Act does not give any definition of the word "condition". The English Act is one of 1893, and it was drafted about four years prior to that date. At that time the English Law as to conditions and warranties was in a state of considerable confusion. Since the enactment of the English Act in 1893, there have been a large number of cases on conditions and warranties. We have ventured to define the expression " a condition ". The material part of the definition consists in the use of the word " essential ", and we think that the English decisions since 1896 bear out this view. [See Fletcher Moulton's L. J.'s dissenting judgment in Wallis v. Pratt (1910) 2 K. B. 1003 at page 1012 afterwards approved by the House of Lords in (1911) A. C. 394.] The expression " condition " is not used in the Indian Act at all. On this part of the law the Indian Act follows mainly the Scottish Law. This is clear from the provisions of section 118 of the Indian Act, which corresponds exactly to the Scottish Law which is set out in the English Act, section 11 (2). The reason why the expression " condition " was not used in the Indian Act, is probably to be found in the very uncertain state of the law at that time.

There are many subdivisions of conditions in English Law, and one of them is a division into (1) conditions precedent, and (2) concurrent conditions. Concurrent conditions are the same as reciprocal conditions and they are dealt with in the Indian Act under the head " Performance of reciprocal promises " in sections 51 to 58.

Conditions are also divided into :—

(1) " Promissory condition ", and

(2) " Contingent conditions ".

Contingent conditions are dealt with in the Indian Act under the head " Contingent Contracts " in sections 31 to 36.

It may be observed that so far as the Scottish Law is concerned, it is far behind the English Law. No doubt it clears many knotty points which arise in this branch of the law. But it is not suited to the modern requirements of commerce. Under the Scottish Law a buyer would be entitled to reject goods as on a breach of a condition in many cases in which under the English Law he would be entitled only to damages as on a breach of warranty.

The definition of " warranty " in the English Act is borrowed from the notes to Cutter v. Powell, 2 Smith's Leading Cases, 7th Ed., page 30.

As regards the definition of the term " condition ", we have borrowed the word " essential " from the classical judgment of Williams, J., in Behn v. Burness (1863) 32 L. J. Q. B. 204 at page 206 (2).

On referring to Indian decisions, it will be found that in several cases the Courts have embarked on an inquiry whether the word " warranty " used in some of the sections, e.g., section 118 of the Indian Act, is equivalent to " condition ", or is used in the same sense as the word " warranty " is used in English Law. It has been held, at least in one case (Buch v. Govardhandas 24 Bom. L. R. 991), that the word " warranty " in section 118 means a " condition ". In other cases, it has been held that the word " warranty " is used in its limited sense. The difficulty has arisen from the fact that the authors of the Indian Act have avoided throughout the use of the word " condition ", and have used the expression " warranty " indiscriminately sometimes in the sense of " condition ", and sometimes in the sense of " warranty " proper. As to section 118 of the Indian Act, it may be observed that the word " warranty " is there used in the sense of a condition. This is clear from the contents of the section itself. The section refers to unascertained goods, and provides that the buyer may reject the goods if they are not in accordance with the warranty. Now the right of rejection, according to the English Law, can only be exercised where the stipulation is a condition, and not where the stipulation amounts to a warranty only. The section then goes on to say that the buyer may, notwithstanding the breach of the " warranty " (that is to say breach of the condition), accept the goods and may, by giving notice to the seller, claim compensation from him. This means that the buyer may, as provided by section 11 (1) (a) of the English Act, elect to treat the breach of the condition as a breach of warranty, and may claim compensation from the seller as provided in section 53 of the English Act.

Such being the case, it is desirable that the distinction between " condition " and " warranty " observed in the English Law and reproduced in the English Act should also be introduced into India. By so doing, the Indian Courts will then have the additional advantage of the decisions of the English Courts. It may perhaps be said that difficulties would arise if the word " condition " which has hitherto not been used in the Indian Act, is introduced in the new Act. In practice, however, very few difficulties need arise, regard being had to the fact that almost all stipulations which are conditions according to English Law are specifically dealt with in the several sections of the English Act.

Before concluding this note, we may draw attention to the judgment of Lord Alverstone in Wallis v. Pratt (1911), A. C. 396, where he said :—

" Prior to that Act, there had been a very great deal of litigation and of discussion as to matters which formed only a ground of warranty and matters which amounted to a condition, and the remedies in the one case and in the other were the subject of a great deal of discussion. * * * * * My Lords, I thought it right to add these few words, because I think it is very important to bear in mind that the rights of people in regard to these matters depend now upon Statute. To a large extent the old law, I will not say, has been swept away, but it has become unnecessary to refer to it."

Clause 13.—Having regard to the conflict which has arisen over the right of the buyer after he has accepted the goods, we have endeavoured to make it clear that once the buyer has accepted the goods, he cannot reject them on any ground. If there be a breach of condition disclosed for instance on subsequent inspection of the goods he can treat the breach as a breach of warranty only and not as a breach of condition. The word "acceptance" has been explained in clauses 41 and 42. Clause 13 (1) and clause 40 of the Bill take the place of section 118 of the Indian Act. Clause 13 (2) takes the place of section 117 of the Indian Act.

Clause 14.—Section 109 of the Indian Act implies that a stipulation regarding title is merely a warranty and breach of it entitles the buyer, as well as a person claiming under him, to recover loss sustained by him from the seller. The provision is based on a rule which was included in the report of the Law Commissioners and as stated by Sir Henry Maine in the Statement of Objects and Reasons to the Indian Bill was a departure from the English Law. No reasons, however, are given to explain why this departure was made. Before 1893 the English Law on the point was in an unsettled state. It was even held at one time that in a sale of specific goods there was no implied warranty of title and that in the absence of fraud the seller was not liable for a bad title unless there was an express warranty or an equivalent to it by declaration or conduct [Morley v. Attenborough (1849) 3 Exch. 500 at p. 512 per Baron Parke]. But in Sims v. Marryat 17 Q. B. 289 at p. 291 Lord Campbell observed in 1851 that "the exceptions have well nigh eaten up the rule". It is unnecessary to trace the course of English Law on this point. But the correct rule has been stated by Benjamin on Sale, p. 685, as follows:—"In regard to conditions as to title, inasmuch as it is an essential element of the contract of sale that there should be a transfer of the absolute or general property in the thing from the seller to the buyer, it would seem naturally to follow that by the very act of selling the chattel the seller undertakes to transfer the property in the thing, and thus warrants his title or ability to sell, and it is believed that such was the true rule of the Common Law." Clause (1) of section 12 of the English Act settles the law on the point and embodies the above rule. It provides that in the absence of an express provision there will be an implied condition as to title in a contract of sale. Clause (2) of section 12 provides for an implied warranty of quiet possession and clause (3) for freedom from incumbrances. These provisions are absent from the Indian Act. But it appears that the laws of modern civilized countries recognize such warranties (vide Benjamin on Sale, p. 694, and Chalmers on Sale of Goods, p. 44. In our opinion, therefore, the provisions of section 12 of the English Act should be adopted in India.

This clause gives larger rights to the buyer than what he had under section 109 of the Indian Act. In regard to the 'persons claiming under him', who are allowed by section 109 to proceed against the original seller, we do not think that any specific provision is necessary. Such persons will either be assignees or sub-buyers from the buyer. Their rights against their own seller will be governed by this section, but as against the original seller will depend on the general law.

Clause 15.—Section 113 of the Indian Act deals with sale by description. In the first place, however, the word 'denomination' used in the section is not a happy expression and is rarely used nowadays. Further, there is no doubt that the word 'warranty' used in the section is used in the sense of 'condition', for where there is a contract for the sale of goods by description, in other words where goods are sold as being of a certain denomination, there is not the slightest doubt that it is a condition precedent that goods should be of the contract description or contract denomination. Even in an old case decided in 1838 Chanter v. Hopkins [4 M. & W. 399] Lord Abinger, C. B., pointed out that in a contract for sale by description failure to supply the thing answering the description is no breach of warranty, but a non-compliance with or non-performance of the contract itself. There is also no reason for restricting the provisions of the section to the sale of goods which have a commercial denomination [Dowes v. Shand (1877) 2 Appeal Cases 455]. It is difficult to understand the import of the explanation to section 113. An express warranty would on general principles negative an implied warranty inconsistent with it. In any case the proposition which the explanation purports to lay down seems to be in conflict with the decision of the House of Lords in Wallis v. Pratt (1911) A. C. 394. In our opinion section 13 of the English Act lays down comprehensively the law on the point. The first part of the section which provides that the goods shall correspond with the description is, as stated by Chalmers, based on a principle which is universal (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 45). The proposition stated in the second part of the section that it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods should correspond with the sample has been recognised in Illustration (b) to section 113 of the Indian Act. We, therefore, think that it is desirable to adopt the provisions of section 13 of the English Act in place of section 113 of the Indian Act.

Clause 16.—This clause deals with implied conditions as to quality or fitness, and is based on section 14 of the English Act. Sub-section (1) is based upon the judgment of Cockburn C. J. in Bigge v. Parkinson (1862) 31 L. J. Exch. 301. In that case the learned Chief Justice said as follows:—

"When a buyer buys a specific article, the rule 'Caveat Emptor' applies, but where the buyer orders goods to be supplied and trusts to the judgment of the seller to select the goods which shall be applicable for the purpose for which they are intended, which is known to both the parties, though there is no express stipulation that they shall be fit for the purpose, there is an implied warranty that they are fit for that purpose. There is no reason why such a warranty should not be implied in the case of a sale of provisions".

Section 114 of the Indian Act is based on this principle. But the provisions of that section appear to have a narrower scope than clause (1) of section 14 of the English Act which has been followed in drafting the present clause.

Sub-section (1) also makes it clear that it is immaterial whether the seller is a manufacturer or producer or not. Thus it clears up the doubt which was raised by the decision in Parkinson v. Lee (1802) 2 East 314. In that case it was held that the seller who was not a manufacturer was not liable for a latent defect. But this decision is no longer good law [vide Chalmers on Sale of Goods, p. 54, and Pollock and Mulla's Contract Act, p. 540 f. n. (2)]. The proviso to sub-section (1) enacts the provisions in section 115 of the Indian Act.

The proposition stated in sub-section (2) has been well established in England [Jones v. Just (1868) L. R. 3 Q. B. 197] and has been recognised also in India in two cases from Madras in which it was held that where goods were sold by description, there was an implied warranty that the goods should be of merchantable quality [Peer Mohamed v. Dalooram (1918) 35 Mad. L. J. 180 and Malli & Co. v. R. V. A. Firm (1922) 43 Mad. L. J. 208].

Sub-section (3) re-enacts the provisions of section 110 of the Indian Act. In regard to section 111 of the Indian Act it may be observed that the trend of recent decisions does not recognize any distinction between provisions and other goods. [Emerton v. Mathews (1862) 31 L. J. Ex. 139, Smith v. Baker (1878) 40 L. T. 1 N. S. 261. See also Wallis v. Russell (1902) 2 Ir. R. 585 at 611.] There is, therefore, no reason to retain the provision in section 111 of the Indian Act.

Clause 17.—This clause relates to sale by sample. Although old text writers were inclined to the view that the term that "bulk shall correspond with sample" is a warranty collateral to the contract, Abbott C. J. held that the buyer was entitled to reject the commodity, if it did not correspond with the sample [Parker v. Palmer (1821) 4 B. & Ald. 387]. Benjamin after reviewing all the cases observes that this so-called warranty was even at Common Law really a condition (Benjamin on Sale, p. 736). The buyer is also entitled to have reasonable facilities for inspecting the bulk independently of any local or trade usage to that effect [Larymer v. Smith (1822) 1 B. & C. 1]; and if there is any latent defect in the sample, i.e., a defect not discernible by the ordinary examination of a prudent buyer which if present in the bulk would render the bulk unmerchantable, the sample is to be taken as if free from it [Heilbut v. Hickson (1872) 7 C. P. 438]. These rules have now been embodied in section 15 of the English Act. Section 112 of the Indian Act refers only to the right of the buyer to reject the goods if the bulk does not correspond with the sample. The use of the word "warranty" in the section is also misleading. Clause 19 therefore has been drafted on the lines of section 15 of the English Act.

Clause 18.—This clause follows section 16 of the English Act. It provides that property in unascertained goods does not pass till they are ascertained. Sections 79, 80 and 87 of the Indian Act deal with the same point, but as they overlap one another, we have adopted the English section.

Clauses 19—24.—Clause 19 (1) and (2) follows section 17 of the English Act, while clause 19 (3) and clauses 20 to 24, follow section 18. The four rules annexed to section 18 of the English Act are stated in separate clauses 20 to 24. Clause 19 is based on the principle of the English Law that the property may pass by the contract itself, if such be the intention of the parties (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 58). On this point there appears to be conflict of opinion in Indian courts. Dealing with a question of the passing of property Sir William Markby observed: "I think this is not a question to be decided simply upon the construction of the Contract Act, but upon the intention of the parties upon which all questions of this kind ultimately depend" [Buchanan v. Avdall 15 B. L. R. 276 at p. 289]. A contrary view was held by Maclean C. J. in Brij Coomaree v. Salamandar Fire Insurance Co. [I. L. R. 32 Cal. 816] in which, without referring to Sir William Markby's judgment, the learned Chief Justice held that section 78 of the Indian Act laid down a rule which the parties could not by their arrangement vary. In a recent case the Bombay High Court was of opinion that Maclean C. J.'s view in the above case was unsound [Amies v. Jal, 25 Bom., L. R. 778]. This conflict is due to the rigid terms of section 78 which fails to state that its provisions will be subject to the intention of the parties.

Section 78 provides that when an offer and acceptance have taken place, the property in the thing does not pass until any one of the following conditions have been complied with:—

(i) earnest or tender, payment or part payment of the price, or

(ii) delivery or part delivery of the thing, or

(iii) an agreement, expressed or implied, for the postponement of delivery or of payment, or of both.

It is, however, clear that neither the payment of the price nor the delivery, either whole or in part, is necessary for the completion of a sale. Section 89 of the Indian Act shows that not only there is no necessity for such payment, but that the price need not even be fixed. As far back as 1833 it was stated in England that the sale of a specific chattel passes the property in it to the vendee without delivery [Dixon v. Yates, 5 B. & Ad. 313 at p. 346]. The last paragraph in section 78 regarding the agreement about the postponement of the payment of price or delivery has been held to imply that it restores the old English common law rule. Cunningham and Shepherd are of opinion that it revives the necessity for an agreement to postpone payment or delivery in cases where there is neither payment, tender, earnest or delivery (p. 316, Ed. II). Pollock and Mulla are of opinion that the wording of the last paragraph does not show how readily an agreement to give credit is to be inferred (p. 449). Section 78, therefore, lays down a rule which is vague and indefinite.

The passing or transfer of property constitutes the most important element in the law relating to contracts for the sale of goods. In mercantile contracts the certainty of the rule is often of more importance than the substance of the rule [Lockyer v. Offley I. T. R.

259]. In our opinion it is desirable to follow the clear and definite rule recognized in English Law that unless a contrary intention appears by the contract, the contract itself is sufficient to pass the property in the goods sold. That rule is laid down in section 17 of the English Act and is adopted in clause 19 (1) and (2).

The parties, no doubt, may make any bargain they like and the law will give effect to it. When the parties express their intention clearly no difficulty arises. The contract may pass the property at once, or at a future time or contingently on the performance of some condition. But in many cases the parties either form no intention on the point or fail to express it. To meet such cases the courts have worked out a series of definite rules for determining when the property is to be deemed to pass according to the imputed intention of the parties. These rules have been reproduced in section 18 of the English Act (Chalmers on Sale of Goods, pp. 9 and 10) and they have been adopted in clauses 20 to 24.

Clause 19 (3) states the general proposition that, unless a different intention appears, the property passes in accordance with rules mentioned in clauses 20 to 24. Clause 20 makes it clear that in the case of an unconditional contract for the sale of specified goods, the payment of the price or the delivery of the goods is not necessary for passing the property. Clause 21 following rule 3 in section 18 provides that the property does not pass until the goods are put in a deliverable state. The same principle is laid down in section 80 of the Indian Act. Clause 22 embodies rule 4 in section 18 of the English Act and corresponds to section 81 of the Indian Act. Clause 23 (1) following rule 5 of the English section provides for a case of unascertained or future goods sold by description. This sub-clause corresponds to section 83 of the Indian Act. Section 84 of the Indian Act contains a proposition which appears to be subordinate to the principle laid down in section 83, and it is rather difficult to see why it was embodied in a separate section. Sub-clause (2) of clause 25 which relates to delivery to a carrier is based on rule 5 (2) of section 18 of the English Act. The principle has been recognised in Indian Law (see Pollock and Mulla's Contract Act, pp. 472-473, Ford Automobiles Co. v. Delhi Motor Co. 24 Bom. L. R. 1146).

Clause 24 relates to 'sale on approval' and what is called in England 'sale or return'. Rule 4 of section 18 of the English Act relates to that subject. When goods are sent on approval, the accepted rule is that there is not generally a completed sale until the buyer has—

(a) signified his approval, which may be either expressly or by dealing with the goods as owner; or

(b) kept the goods until the lapse of the prescribed or a reasonable time without giving notice of rejection; or

(c) made return impossible by his own act or default, as by letting the goods be destroyed or spoilt.

(Pollock and Mulla's Contract Act, p. 452). The above rule has been embodied in rule 4 of section 18 of the English Act and we propose to follow it. So far as the Indian Act is concerned, the principle has been referred to in Illustration (b) to section 78. In our opinion such an important principle should not be relegated to an illustration, but should be embodied in a specific clause.

We also propose to omit section 85 of the Indian Act. The rule stated therein is a rule of intention and depends on the question whether the contract is severable or non-severable. [Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, p. 175].

Clause 25.—There are no separate provisions in the Indian Act corresponding to this clause. Sub-clause (2) of clause 23 deals with delivery to a carrier without any reservation of the right of disposal. In this clause the seller's right of disposal or 'jus disponendi' is dealt with. Sub-clause (1) is of general application and is not confined to the cases of carriage by sea, while sub-clauses (2) and (3) relate to carriage by sea. The proposition laid down by the clause is embodied in section 19 of the English Act and is well recognised in India also [see 24 Bom. L. R. 1140].

Clause 26.—Section 86 of the Indian Act seems to lay down as an inflexible rule of law that the risk follows the property. According to the English Common Law it is merely a primâ facie rule. There is nothing in the law of England to prevent the parties from agreeing, if they please, that the risk shall pass at some time or on some condition which is not necessarily simultaneous with the passing of property; and thus the ownership may in particular cases be separated from the risk [Martineau v. Kinching (1872) L. R. 7 Q. B. 496, The Parchim (1918) A. C. 167 at p. 168]. Such a case would arise when the parties are at a distance. In our opinion the rule mentioned in section 20 of the English Act, which saves particular agreements and is more comprehensive, should be adopted in India. It also provides for cases where delivery is delayed and where the seller or buyer is acting as a bailee of the goods for the other party. We have adopted the provisions of section 20 of the English Act.

Clauses 27—29.—In England, before the passing of the first three Factors Acts, being the Acts of 1823, 1825 and 1842, a person in possession of goods or documents of title could not dispose of these goods in contravention of his instructions with respect to them except where—

(1) the sale was in market overt;

(2) the owner of the goods was by his conduct precluded from denying the seller's authority to sell; and

(3) the goods were sold under a statutory power of sale.

The Factors Acts referred to above dealt with the powers of factors and mercantile agents entrusted with the possession of goods or documents of title to goods. The joint effect of those Acts was summed up by Blackburn L. J., in Cole v. North Western Bank (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 354, at page 372. After reviewing the history and policy of the Acts, he said:—

"We do not think that the legislature wished to give to all sales and pledges in the ordinary course of business the effect which the common law gives to sales in market overt.........The general rule of law is that where a person is deceived by another into believing he may safely deal with property, he bears the loss, unless he can show that he was misled by the act of the true owner. The legislature seems to us to have wished to make it the law that, where a third person has entrusted goods or the documents of title of goods to an agent who, in the case of such agency, sells or pledges the goods, he should be deemed by that act to have misled any one who bona fide deals with the agent, and makes a purchase from or advance to him without notice that he was not authorised to sell or to procure the advance."

It will thus be seen that the provisions of the Factors Acts referred to above were really an extension of the common law rule of estoppel.

Under these Acts, the terms used were simply "person" or "agent" entrusted with the possession of goods, but it was held that the Acts only applied to mercantile transactions, and that the term "person" or "agent" did not include a mere servant or one who had possession of goods for carriage, safe custody, or otherwise as an independent contracting party, but only persons whose employment corresponded to that of some known kind of commercial agent like factors. Thus a wine merchant's clerk who, as such, was possessed of delivery orders, was held not to be an agent within the meaning of the Acts, so as to be able to make a valid pledge in fraud of his master.

Such was the state of the English law when the Indian Law Commissioners drafted the Contract Bill. To turn now to the Indian law on the subject, there were then in force in India two Factors Acts, one of 1840, and the other of 1844. The Indian Factors Act of 1840 was a reproduction of the English Factors Acts of 1823 and 1825. The Indian Factors Act of 1844 was a reproduction of the English Factors Act of 1842. Both the Indian Acts, like the English Acts on which they were based, related only to pledges. The Acts contained no power of sale.

As regards sales by an apparent owner of goods, the Law Commissioners cut the gordian knot by providing in clause 81 as follows:—

"The ownership of goods may be acquired by buying them from any person who is in possession of them, provided that the buyer acts in good faith and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the person in possession has no right to sell them."

In other words, it was sought to be provided that every place in India should be a market overt. The Select Committee to which the Bill was referred objected to this clause, the ground of objection being substantially that the provision would make British India an asylum for cattle-stealers from Indian States. The clause, after a good deal of controversy, was ultimately moulded in the form in which it now stands in section 108 of the Indian Act.

As to pledges by an apparent owner, the clause as drafted by them ran as follows:—

"A person who is in possession of goods or of any bill of lading, dock warrant, warehouse-keeper's certificate, warrant or order for delivery, or any other document of title to goods, may make a valid pledge of such goods or documents, provided that the pawnee acts in good faith and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the pawner is acting improperly."

This clause was retained by the Select Committee and it became subsequently section 178 of the Indian Act.

Referring to the above clauses Sir Henry Maine observed as follows:—

"It cannot be denied that the subject is difficult. We have to consider, on one hand, the hardship suffered by an innocent person who loses in this way his right to recover what was his undoubted property. But, on the other hand, still greater weight appears to us to be due to the hardship which a bona fide purchaser would suffer, were he to be deprived of what he bought. The former is very often justly chargeable with remissness or negligence in the custody of the property. The conduct of the latter has been blameless. The balance of equitable consideration is, therefore, on the side of a rule favourable to the purchaser; and we think that sound policy with respect to the interests of commerce points to the same conclusion.

We have, therefore, provided that the ownership of goods may be acquired by buying them from any person who is in possession of them, if the buyer acts in good faith, and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the person in possession has no right to sell them. Similar provisions have been inserted in accordance, we may observe, with the spirit of the Factors Act—to meet the cases of those who have purchased goods or taken them by way of pledge from persons in possession of any documentary title to the goods, where the circumstances are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the person in possession of the document has no right to sell or to pledge the goods."

It is clear from the above observations that the intention was that a buyer should acquire a good title to goods if he bought them from "any person" who was in possession of them, if he acted in good faith. Though that was the intention of the Legislature, the Indian Courts have in some cases construed the word "possession" both in sections 108 and 178 of the Indian Act to mean "juridical possession". In other cases, however, it has been held that the word "possession" is used in its literal meaning and that there is no warrant for qualifying it. (See Haji Rahimbux v. Central Bank, I. L. R. 56 Cal. 367, where all the cases on the point are reviewed.) The general trend, however, of the decisions is to confine the operation of both the sections to juridical possession and to sales or pledges by persons whose employment corresponded to that of commercial agents like factors. Such being the state of the authorities, it is desirable that the law both of sales and pledges by apparent owners should be made clear, and this we have attempted to do in clauses 27 to 30 of the Bill. In so doing we have borrowed certain provisions of the English Factors Act, 1889, which repeals the previous Factors Acts. Section 1 of that Act defines a "mercantile agent," as meaning a mercantile agent having in the customary course of his business as such agent authority either to sell goods, or to consign goods for the purpose of sale, or to buy goods or to raise money on the security of goods. Section 2 of the Act empowers a mercantile agent to sell, pledge or otherwise dispose of goods or documents of title to goods of which he is in possession with the consent of the owner so as to give to the buyer a good title subject to the limitations mentioned in the section.

In clause 27 of the Bill we have confined the power of sale to mercantile agents only. In confining this power to mercantile agents, we are bringing this law substantially into line with the English law. No doubt sales in market overt are recognised in English law. But the law of market overt has in England ceased to be of any general importance having regard to the large number of limitations, having been placed on such sales by subsequent statistics. We do not think that the principle of market overt should be extended to this country.

We have specifically stated in the clause that a person buying goods from one who is not the owner thereof and who does not sell them with his consent acquires no better title to the goods than the seller had except in the two cases mentioned therein, one being the case of estoppel, and the other the case of a sale by a mercantile agent in possession of goods with the consent of the owner and having authority either to sell goods, or to consign goods for the purpose of sale, etc. Clause 27 is substituted for the first part of section 108 including Exception 1. Exception 2 of that section is transferred to a separate clause, being clause 28. Clause 29 is substituted for Exception 3 to that section on the lines of section 23 of the English Act. We have omitted the second paragraph to Exception 3 to section 108 as being unnecessary.

Clause 30.—This clause is new. It provides for the case of a sale by a seller who is in possession of goods sold by him. It is a reproduction of section 25, sub-section (1), of the English Act, which again is based to a large extent in section 8, of the English Factors Act, 1889. Before the enactment of section 8 of the English Factors Act, 1889, it was held that if the buyer, for his own convenience, left the goods and documents of title in the hands of the seller, who fraudulently resold or pledged them, he could nevertheless recover the goods from the innocent purchaser or pledgee. Section 8 of the Factors Act was enacted to remove the hardship caused by the common law rule.

Clause 30, sub-clause (2), provides for the case of a sale by a buyer obtaining possession of goods with the consent of the seller, where the original sale was one on credit. It is a reproduction of section 25, sub-section (1), of the English Act, which again is based to a large extent on section 9 of the English Factors Act, 1889. Before the enactment of section 9 of the English Factors Act, it was held that a sale or pledge of goods or documents of title to goods by the buyer does not defeat the unpaid seller's rights, the reason given being that the buyer was not entrusted with the goods as an agent. Section 9 of the English Factors Act was enacted to remove the hardship caused by the common law rule referred to above. The words "other right of the seller in respect of the goods" in clause (2) of the Bill relate enter alia to a right which a seller may have to avoid a contract on any of the grounds on which a contract can be avoided.

Sub-section (2) of section 25 provides that the delivery or transfer by the buyer in person "shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were a mercantile agent in possession of the goods or documents of title with the consent of the owner." Instead of those words we have substituted, to avoid the use of the expression "mercantile agent," the words "shall have effect as if such lien or right did not exist." The change in the language, we think, does not make any difference in the result.

There was some difference of opinion on the question as to whether the protection to a purchaser from a seller or buyer in possession should be extended also to a purchaser from a mercantile agent acting for the seller or the buyer. The clause, as it stands, is new; it provides for the additional cases in which a buyer may acquire a good title; we have not therefore considered it desirable to extend the protection to a purchaser claiming from a mercantile agent acting for a seller or a buyer. It need hardly be said that no express provision is necessary in regard to a sale effected by a person duly authorised by the seller or the buyer in possession.

Having regard to the changes which we have made in section 108 of the Indian Act, we think it is desirable that section 178 should be amended so as to make it consistent with the provisions of clause 27 of the Bill.

Clause 31.—This clause is based on section 27 of the English Act. Although there is no specific section corresponding to it in the Indian Act, it is implied in section 51. We think a separate section is desirable.

Clause 32.—The general rule is that the obligation of the seller to deliver and that of the buyer to pay are implied concurrent conditions in the nature of mutual conditions precedent, and that neither can enforce the contract against the other without showing performance or offering to perform or averring readiness and willingness to perform his own promise (Benjamin on Sale, pp. 682 and 683). The words 'unless otherwise agreed' save sales on credit or such special contracts as c. i. f. contracts. The rule has been embodied in section 28 of the English Act and has been adopted in this clause. The principle of this rule is implied in section 51 of the Indian Act.

Clause 33.—This clause provides for the manner in which delivery of goods can be made and corresponds to section 90 of the Indian Act. The words 'which the parties agree shall be treated as delivery ' have been added to make it clear that delivery may also be made by means of an act or thing which the parties agree shall be treated as a delivery. (Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, p. 206).

Clause 34.—This clause repeats the provisions of section 92 of the Indian Act. It affirms the English common law rule that the delivery of the part may be delivery of the whole, if it is so intended and agreed, but not otherwise. (Pollock and Mulla's Contract Act, p. 489).

Clause 35.—In this clause the provisions of section 93 of the Indian Act are repeated. It is true that there is no specific provision in the English Act corresponding to it. But the principle seems to have been well recognised in England also. It has been held that in the absence of a contrary agreement, a seller is not bound to send or carry the goods to the buyer. He may leave or place them at the buyer's disposal, so that the latter is able to remove them (Benjamin on Sale, page 783). In the opinion of Chalmers there is nothing in the wording of the English Act to displace this rule [Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 25, f. n. (a), page 207]. There was some difference of opinion amongst us on the question as to whether the expression " apart from any contract or in the absence of a contract to the contrary " should be substituted for the expression " apart from any express contract," and clauses 5, 36 (1) and 62 of the Bill were referred to. We have however retained the expression " apart from any express contract," as the rule enunciated in clause 35 has been in existence since 1872 and has been adopted in actual practice.

Clause 36.—This clause is a combination of section 29 of the English Act and section 94 of the Indian Act. We have omitted the second part of section 29 (1) of the English Act and substituted in its place the provisions of section 94 of the Indian Act, adding the words ' manufactured or ' before the word ' produced ' in sub-clause (2) corresponding with section 94 of the Indian Act.

Sub-clause (1) corresponds to sub-section (1) of section 29.

The latter part of section 29 (1) of the English Act provides that apart from any contract, express or implied, the place of delivery is the seller's place of business, if he have one, and if not, his residence. Before this provision was made by the English Act, there was no settled rule in England. In the opinion of Chalmers a more definite primâ facie rule ought to have been included in the English Act. (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 86). The rule embodied in section 94 has been found to have caused no difficulty in India and we propose to retain it.

Clause 37.—Section 119 of the Indian Act provides for one of the contingencies with regard to the quantity of the goods. Section 30 of the English Act is comprehensive and deals with all possible contingencies which generally occur. We have, therefore, adopted the provisions of the English section.

Clause 38.—The case of instalment deliveries falls under the general provisions embodied in sections 39 and 120 of the Indian Act. As a corollary to the preceding clause, in the absence of a contract, express or implied, a buyer is not bound to accept by instalments the delivery of the goods sold to him. This is provided for in sub-section (1) of section 31 of the English Act and we have adopted it in clause 38 (1).

It was held in some of the old cases that where a contract provided for delivery by instalments, either expressly or impliedly, the refusal by the seller to deliver or by the buyer to accept or pay a particular instalment was a breach which went to the root of the contract [Withers v. Reynolds (1831) 2 B. and Ad. 882, Hoare v. Rennie 29 L. J. Ex. 79, Honck v. Muller (1881) 7 Q. B. D. 92]. A contrary view was, however, held in other cases [Jonassohn v. Young (1863) 32 L. J. Q. B. 385, Simpson v. Crippin (1872) L. R. 8 Q. B. 14, Freeth v. Burr (1874) L. R. 9 C. P. 208]. The latter view was followed in India in the following cases:—I. L. R. 4 Cal. 252, 9 Mad. 359, 18 Mad. 63, (1914) Punj. Rec No. 63, p. 214. The true rule in such cases is that each case should be judged on its own facts (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 91). Sub-section (2) of section 31 of the English Act gives effect to that principle. This subsection, however, does not contain a full statement of law on the point (Benjamin on Sale, p. 826). It only provides for a defective delivery on the part of a seller. In our opinion the rule ought to apply where the seller omits or refuses to make a delivery. We have, therefore, inserted the words ' no delivery or ' after the words ' the seller makes' in sub-clause (2).

Clause 39.—This clause is a combination of section 32 of the English Act and section 91 of the Indian Act. In England it has been well settled for more than a century " that if a tradesman orders goods to be sent by a carrier, though he does not name any carrier, the moment the goods are delivered to the carrier it operates as a delivery to the purchaser " (Pollock and Mulla's Contract Act citing Dutton v. Solomanson 3 B. & P. 582). It is also well established that it is the seller's duty " to do whatever was necessary to secure the responsibility of the carrier for the safe delivery of the goods, and to put them into such a course of conveyance, as that in the case of a loss the buyer might have his indemnity against the carriers " [Clarke v. Hutchins (1811) 14 East 475]. These two rules have been embodied in section 91 of the Indian Act and elaborated in section 32 of the English Act. Section 91 of the Indian Act refers to a carrier or a wharfinger also. The reason appears to be that delivery of goods to a carrier or wharfinger was treated as standing on the same footing [Buckman v. Levi (1813) 3 Camp. 414]. The English section does not refer to a wharfinger. In England there are special statutory provisions relating to wharfingers. As the rule as to wharfingers in section 92 has been in existence since 1872 in India, we consider it desirable to include it in the present clause. In England there has been some difference of opinion regarding the applicability of section 32 (3) to f. o. b. contracts. Ballaiche J. in Wimble

v. Rosenberg (1913), 1 K. B. 279 and Hamilton L. J. in (1913) 3 K. B. 756-57 are of opinion that in view of the use of the word 'sent' in that sub-section it does not apply to f. o. b. contracts. As in f. o. b. contracts a seller is required only to deliver goods on board the ship and thereafter they remain at the risk of the buyer, the two judges mentioned above are of opinion that the goods are not sent within the meaning of section 32 (3). This view was not shared by the majority of the Bench in the Court of Appeal [see observations of Vaughon Williams and Buckley L. J. J. in (1913) 3 K. B., pp. 750-53]. The majority view was followed later on in the Court of Appeal in Northern Steel Co. v. John Butt & Co. (1917) 33 T. L. R. 316. As the point has not been finally decided by a higher tribunal, we think it is desirable to retain the word 'sent' in sub-clause (3).

Clause 40.—This clause is based on section 30 of the English Act. It was pointed out in the course of the discussion that this clause might be deleted, as it might be difficult to work it side by side with the other clauses in the Bill which enjoin a duty on the seller to comply with the conditions as to merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, and so on. And it was also urged that the principle that the buyer should bear the risk of deterioration incidental to the transit is inconsistent with the fundamental basis of the contract postulated by the section that the seller should undertake the transit, that the delivery should be after the transit and that the seller should take the risk in the meantime. We have, however, decided to retain the section, as it is in accordance with the principles recognised by the common law of England and as the section of the English Act which is based upon the common law has been in force for a long time.

Clause 41.—This clause is based on section 34 of the English Act. The rules stated in both the clauses are common law rules (Benjamin on Sale, pp. 842 and 856). Sub-clause (1) enacts the well established proposition that no acceptance can properly be said to have taken place until the buyer has had an opportunity of rejection.

The rule stated in sub-clause (2) is a corollary to the above rule and was applied in Isherwood v. Whitmore (11 M. and W. 347). In that case, the defendants, having received notice that the goods were at a certain wharf ready for delivery on payment of the price, went there, but on application to inspect the goods were shown two closed casks said to contain them. It was held that no sufficient opportunity was given to the buyer to examine the goods and the plaintiff, therefore, had not made a valid offer of delivery. Although there is no section in Chapter VII of the Indian Act laying down the rule, the principle underlying it has been embodied in section 38 (2) of that Act. The rule has also been applied by Latham J. in a Bombay case in Ruttensey v. Jamnadas I. L. R. 6, Bom. 692. The words 'unless otherwise agreed' save special contracts.

Clause 42.—This clause is based on section 35 of the English Act and embodies the common law rule on this point.

Clause 43.—This clause is based on section 36 of the English Act. Although there is no specific provision in the Indian Act laying down the rule stated in the section, the rule has been applied in several cases in India [Sumer Chand v. Ardeshir (1907) All. W. N. 67, Buch and Co. v. Govardhandas 24 Bom. L. R. 991].

Clause 44.—This clause is based on section 37 of the English Act. There is no specific provision in the Indian Act on the point, but the rule is based on the remarks of Lord Ellenborough in Greaves v. Ashlin (1873) 3 Camp. 426 and is a salutary rule of law. The reference to the charge for custody shows that the clause applies to cases in which the property has passed and the buyer neglects to take possession. The proviso to the section saves all the rights of the seller which he is entitled to enforce in case of the repudiation of the contract on the part of the buyer.

Clause 45.—This clause defines an unpaid seller and is based on section 38 of the English Act. There is no similar provision in the Indian Act. One of the rights of an unpaid seller is dealt with in section 95. We think it desirable to define an unpaid seller.

The trend of the decision in England before 1893 was to give rights of an unpaid seller against the goods to any one whose position can be shown to be substantially analogous to that of an ordinary seller (Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 102). Sub-clause (2) gives effect to that view.

Clause 46.—This clause which is based on section 39 of the English Act declares generally the rights of an unpaid seller. When the property in the goods has passed to the buyer, he has the following rights:—

(1) lien,
(2) stoppage in transit,
(3) right of resale.

This clause groups together in a convenient form the rights of an unpaid seller which are scattered over different sections in the Indian Act. Lien is provided for in sections 95 to 98, stoppage in transit in sections 100 to 106 and resale in section 107.

Sub-clause (2) refers to other rights of an unpaid seller where the property has not passed to the buyer.

Clause 47.—This clause is based on section 41 of the English Act and states clearly in what case the seller is entitled to enforce his right of lien. The provisions of this clause are at present embodied in sections 95 to 97 of the Indian Act. The Explanation to section 96 which defines an insolvent has been relegated to the interpretation clause of this Bill. Sections 95 to 97, however, are silent regarding the question whether a seller is entitled to exercise his right of lien when he is in possession of the goods as an agent or bailee of the buyer. This question usually arises in cases when the buyer becomes insolvent allowing the goods to remain in possession of the seller. There is no reported decision of any Indian court on this point. The old common law rule was that though the goods may remain in the possession of the seller, yet, if it is agreed between the seller and the buyer that the former's possession shall thenceforth be that of a bailee for the buyer, and not that of a seller, the right of lien is gone [Cusack v. Robinson (1861) 30 L. J. Q. B. 261 at p 264]. The lien is only revived if the buyer becomes insolvent [Townely v. Crump (1835) 4 A. & E. 58]. The common law rule was abrogated in England by section 41 (2) of the English Act. This clause is based on the statutory rule adopted in that sub-section.

We do not think it desirable to make any provision relating to equitable titles and have therefore left the matter to be dealt with under the ordinary law of the land.

Clause 48.—This clause follows section 47 of the English Act. The principle is to be found in the Illustration to section 106 of the Indian Act.

Clause 49.—Very often a question arises whether the lien of a seller has terminated. There is no express provision in Chapter VII of the Indian Act on the point except such as is implied by section 100. Section 43 of the English Act, following the common law rules, declares when such lien terminates. We consider that these rules should be adopted in the present Bill. Sub-clause (3) of the present clause which is based on section 43 (2) of the English Act recognises the principle in the following cases, viz.:—Houlditch v. Desanges (1818) 2 Stark 337, Srivener v. Great N. W. Railway (1871) 19 W. R. 388.

Clause 50.—This clause follows section 44 of the English Act. The principle is recognised in sections 99—106 of the Indian Act.

Clause 51.—This clause is based on section 45 of the English Act. The same principle is embodied in section 100 of the Indian Act, but we prefer to adopt the provisions of the English section.

Clause 52.—This clause is based on section 46 of the English Act. The rules contained in that section correspond to sections 104 and 105 of the Indian Act.

Clause 53.—This clause is based on section 47 of the English Act. It relates to the effect of a sub-sale or a pledge of the goods sold by a buyer before he has paid the price. The first paragraph of sub-clause (1) combines the provisions of sections 98 and 101 of the Indian Act; sections 102 and 103 of the Indian Act refer to the transfer of a document of title by the buyer. That provision is contained in the proviso to sub-clause (1). The words "having obtained" in section 102 of the Indian Act are not satisfactory. They may include the case where the buyer obtains the document tortiously. To exclude such cases the English provision uses the words "lawfully transferred". The controversy with regard to the meaning of the words "document of title" has been now set at rest by the Privy Council decision in Ramdas v. Amerchand, I. L. R. 43, I. A. 164. They have the same meaning as they had in the Factors Act of 1840 and include any instrument of title. To make the proviso applicable to warrants and orders for the delivery of goods which are really "issued" and not transferred, we have inserted the word "issued" before the words "lawfully transferred".

In sub-clause (2) we have inserted a provision to provide for the right of marshalling by an unpaid seller, when the buyer has transferred the goods by way of a pledge of the documents of title. In such cases an unpaid seller is entitled to require the pledgee to satisfy his claim against the buyer first out of any goods or securities in the hands of the pledgee. The principle of marshalling applies to transactions relating to immoveable property (see sections 56 and 81 of the Transfer of Property Act) and is also well recognised in England as being applicable to contracts for the sale of goods [see Halsbury, Vol. 25, p. 262, Benjamin on Sale, p. 1059].

Clause 54.—This clause relates to the right of re-sale of an unpaid seller, and is based on section 48 of the English Act. In drafting the clause, we have been guided by the following principles:

1. Before the seller exercises his right of resale, he should give notice to the buyer of his intention to re-sell.

2. In default of such a notice, the seller should have no right to claim any damages for loss on re-sale from the buyer and should be under an obligation to pay over the profits, if any, arising from the re-sale to the purchaser.

3. Whether or not the requisite notice is given, the purchaser from a seller should get an absolute and clear title. This position underlies section 48, clause (2), of the English Act, but the point is made clear in the Bill.

In regard to the profits arising from the re-sale, we have thought it right that the seller should be entitled to the profits inasmuch as the re-sale is the result of a breach of contract on the part of the buyer. We have not overlooked the fact that this point is treated as doubtful in English law.

We have not attempted to define the word "perishable" because the English decisions and textbooks make it clear what that word means. Vide Halsbury, Vol. 25, p. 264, Benjamin on Sale, p. 1085.

Clause 55.—This clause is based on section 49 (1) and (2) of the English Act. The provision in sub-clause (3) of section 49 of the English Act dealing with interest has been included in clause 61 of the Bill.

Clause 56.—This clause is based on section 50 of the English Act. We have omitted in this and the other clauses (57 and 59) the provisions of the English Act relating to the measure of damages, as they are provided for in sections 73 and 74 of the Indian Act.

Clause 58.—This clause is based on section 52 of the English Act. We have adopted it in this Bill, inasmuch as it comes appropriately under the head of remedies. As the principles relating to specific relief in India are contained in the Specific Relief Act, 1877, the provisions of this clause are expressly made subject to that Act.

Clause 59.—In this clause the distinction between "condition" and "warranty" has been maintained. See notes to clauses 12 and 13 of the Bill.

Clause 60.—This clause is new and deals with what is known as anticipatory breach. The remedies on an anticipatory breach have been recognised for a long time in England as well as in this country. [See Leigh v. Paterson (1898) 129 R. R. 483, Frost v. Knight

(1870) L. R. 7 Exch. 111; Mansukhdas v. Rangachi 1 Mad. H. C. R. 162, Steel Bros. v. Dayal Khusal I. L. R. 47 Bom. 924.] The principle embodied in this clause is included in sections 39 and 120 of the Indian Act. We think it is desirable to make a specific provision in the Bill.

Clause 61.—Sub-clause (1) of this clause follows section 54 of the English Act. Sub-clause (2) (a) follows the Scottish law embodied in section 49 (3) of the English Act. Sub-clause (2) (b) is new. There has been a considerable conflict of opinion in India on the question whether interest can be claimed by way of damages on a breach of contract or on the price. (See Pollock and Mulla, page 412.) In a recent Full Bench case in Madras the majority of the Court held that a person who has advanced money to another for the supply of goods is not entitled to get interest on the amounts advanced if the seller makes default in performing the contract. Ramesam, J., however, dissented from the above view and was of opinion that interest could be awarded as damages under section 73 of the Indian Act. See Kundappa v. Muthu Swami I. L. R. 50 Mad. 94. We think it is desirable to make a specific provision for interest. The general rule of English law is that damages for the detention of a debt are merely nominal and that in an action for the price of goods sold interest is not recoverable. But the Scottish law as embodied in section 49 (3) of the English Act allows interest to the seller. There is no express provision either in English or Indian law for the payment of interest to the buyer suing for the refund of the price. In our opinion, the buyer should get interest in such a case, and we have therefore included a provision to that effect in sub-clause (2) (b). In our opinion interest on damages should not be awarded, and we have therefore made no provision in that behalf.

Clause 62.—This clause is based on section 55 of the English Act and is merely an application of the general maxims, Expressum facit cessare tacitum, and modus et conventio vincunt legem. The rule is well recognised in France also (see Chalmers' Sale of Goods, p. 137). The sale is a consensual contract and the parties may alter at will the obligations which the law implies from the general nature of the contract. The rule was well recognised in England before the passing of the English Act. In Honck v. Muller [1881] 7 Q. B. D. at page 103. Lord Blackburn, discussing the correlative obligations on payment and delivery, said: "There is no rule of law to prevent the parties from making any bargain they please."

Clause 63.—This clause relates to the import of the term "reasonable time". On the lines of section 56 of the English Act, it is provided that it is a question of fact in each case. The same provision exists in the Explanation to section 46 of the Indian Act.

Clause 64.—This clause relates to auction sales. The provisions of sections 122 and 123 of the Indian Act are not exhaustive. We prefer to follow section 58 of the English Act but we have altered the arrangement of the different provisions to make them more clear. The order we have adopted is supported by the provisions of the Puffer's Act, 1867 (30 and 31 Vict., c. 48). See also Halsbury, Vol. 25, page 280. Sub-clause (5) of this clause re-enacts the provision of 123 of the Indian Act.

Clause 66.—This is a saving clause. Sub-clause (1), items (a) to (c), save in general terms all transactions made, proceedings taken and rights and liabilities arising before this Bill comes into operation. Item (d) of the sub-clause saves any Act relating to the sale of goods which has not been expressly repealed by this Bill. Thus such enactments as the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, or the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, which contain special provisions relating to the sale of goods are saved.

In clause 4 of the present Bill we have introduced an express provision that the provisions of the Indian Act which are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Bill shall continue to apply to contracts for the sale of goods. Thus the general Law of Contract, as embodied in the Indian Act, has been made expressly applicable to contracts for the sale of goods.

Sub-clause (3) of this clause is based on sub-section (1) of section 61 of the English Act and saves the rules of Insolvency Law, whereas sub-clause (4) which follows sub-section (4) of the English section enacts that the provisions of this Bill shall not apply to ostensible sales.

Forecast of the Summer Til Crop of Bengal, 1929-30.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under til in Bengal has represented some 2·7 per cent. of the total area under til in British India.)

Character of the Season.—The rainfall in February was defective, while in March it was moderate. The preparatory tillage and sowings, though generally commenced in the normal time, were a little late in some important districts. Good showers in April favoured the germination, but subsequently insufficient rainfall stunted the growth and reduced the outturn in many districts. On the whole, the season, though a little better than last year, was unfavourable for the crop.

Acreage.—The area shown this year is reported to be 109,000 acres as against 102,300 acres last year.

Outturn.—From the estimates furnished by District Officers, the average outturn of the crop for the province works out to 69 per cent. of the normal this year as against 60 per cent. last year.

Taking the normal yield of 6 maunds per acre, the gross outturn of the crop for the province is estimated at about 16,600 tons this year as against 13,500 tons last year.

1. The printing of Paper-books shall be in accordance with the following directions:—

(a) the Paper-books shall be printed in the form known as demy quarto, i.e., 54 ems (or 9 inches) in length and 42 ems (or 7 inches) in width;

(b) the size of the paper used shall be such that the sheet, when folded and trimmed, will be 11 inches long and 8½ inches wide;

(c) the type to be used in the text shall be pica type, but long primer shall be used in printing accounts, tabular matter and notes;

(d) the number of lines in each page of pica type shall be 47, or thereabouts, and every tenth line shall be numbered in the margin, i.e., the tenth line will be numbered 10, and the second 10th line 20, and so on;

(e) the stationery required for the Paper-book shall be provided by the office only for the preparation of the Paper-books in Second Appeals.

2. "Editing" the Paper-book shall include—

(i) collecting and arranging the papers required for inclusion in the Paper-book,

(ii) examining and comparing proofs, or, when several copies of a typed Paper-book are prepared, examining and comparing such copies (other than the first copy) with the originals or authenticated copies of English papers or translations where the rules provide for translations;

(iii) the preparation of title pages and indexes; and

(iv) the general supervision necessary to ensure the accuracy of the record and compliance with the provisions of the Appellate Side Rules with regard to the preparation of Paper-books.

Note—The repetition of unnecessary titles in documents should be avoided and formal portions of documents omitted.

3. Every Paper-book shall have attached to it a fly-leaf in the prescribed form, and giving the particulars required by Rule 41.

4. In urgent cases, upon good cause being shown, the Registrar may allow any party to put in such number of typed copies of the Paper-book as he may consider necessary.

Exception.—In an appeal which is to be heard under Order XLI, Rule 11, Civil Procedure Code, no Paper-book shall be prepared unless and until an order for the service of notice on the respondent has been made.

5. There shall be inserted at the end of one copy of the Paper-book prepared in every case, and in the following form, a statement in which shall be specified each item of the costs incurred in its preparation by the appellant and the respondent, respectively:—

	By the Appellant.			By the Respondent.
	Number of pages.	Rate of charge.	Amount.	Number of pages.	Rate of charge.	Amount.
			Rs.			Rs.
Estimating .. Translating, etc. (as in Rule 46 or Rule 50 as the case may be).

6. In the case of Appeals, other than Appeals from Appellate Decrees, any surplus remaining after deducting the costs actually incurred by each party from the amount deposited with the Accountant of the Court may be refunded upon request to the party by whom the deposit was made, or to the Advocate entitled to act for such party.

7. The costs incurred in the preparation of the Paper-book shall be costs in the appeal, unless as to the whole or any portion thereof the Court which hears the appeal shall otherwise direct.

8. The Registrar may, upon application and upon sufficient cause being shown, enlarge the time prescribed by these rules for doing any act to be done under their provisions. An application for enlargement of time must ordinarily be made before the expiry of the prescribed time and be supported by an affidavit of facts. The Registrar may also, upon application and upon sufficient grounds proved by affidavit, exempt any appellant or respondent from the operation of the whole or any part of these rules, or may make such special order as he deems fit as to any matter with which these rules are concerned. In case any affidavit to be used under this rule is sent from the muffasal and is in the vernacular, it shall be accompanied by an English translation, certified to be correct by an Advocate or a Translator of this Court.

9. When these rules direct or allow any act to be done by, or any notice to be given to, an appellant or respondent, such act may be done by, or such notice given to, the Advocate, or (where authorised in that behalf by the rules of the High Court) the Mukhtear of such appellant or respondent.

Part II—Appeals from Original Decrees.

A—GENERAL.

10. On receipt of the record from the Lower Court it shall be the duty of the Registrar to see that the Paper-book in an Appeal from an Original Decree for the use of the High Court at its hearing is prepared in accordance with the directions given in the following rules.

Provided that the Registrar or the Division Court having jurisdiction over any particular Group may, for sufficient cause shown, pass any special order regarding the preparation of the Paper-book of any particular appeal belonging to that Group.

11. Part I of the Paper-book shall contain the following papers:—

(a) order-sheet;
*(b) the plaint;
(c) schedules, if any;
*(d) written statements of parties;
*(e) examination of parties or their agents, etc.;
*(f) injunctions;
*(g) orders of attachment, etc., (if any), obtained before judgment;
*(h) issues framed (if any);
(i) depositions of witnesses for plaintiff;
(j) depositions of witnesses for defendant;
(k) report of Commissioner (if any) with maps, depositions, etc., annexed;
*(l) the judgment and the decree or order from which the appeal is preferred, exclusive of schedules;
*(m) memorandum of appeal;
(n) any other paper, other than an exhibit, on which the decision of the appeal depends.

Part I shall also contain an index which shall be drawn up in accordance with the provision of Rule 47 (ii).

Part II of the Paper-book shall consist of the Exhibits.

12. Upon the receipt of the record, the Deputy Registrar shall serve a notice on the appellant requiring him to prepare and deliver to such Deputy Registrar—

(a) A list of papers (other than those marked * in Rule 11 above, and the exhibits) upon which the decision of the appeal depends and which the appellant desires to have included in Part I of the Paper-book at his expense. Such list shall be called "List A."

(b) A list of the exhibits to be inserted in Part II of the Paper-book at the expense of such appellant. Such list shall be called "List B."

13. Such lists shall be in the following form:—

Number on the ...h.	Mark (if any) in the Court below.	Description and date of paper.	Whether the whole or portion and (in case of a portion) what portion to be inserted in the Paper-book.	Page of Paper-book (to be filled in later).

Printed forms of lists will be supplied to the parties or the Advocates entitled to act for them, free of cost, on application to the Forms Clerk.

14. There shall be entered in such lists all documents on which the decision of the appeal depends.

Provided that if it is necessary only to print a portion of any particular document for the decision of the appeal the relevant portion shall be specified.

15. The list of exhibits (List B) should retain their original numbers with the proper page number attached. The documents should be arranged, as far as suitable, in chronological order, mixing plaintiff's and defendant's documents together when necessary, but in all cases documents relating to the same series, or to the same subject (e.g., a series of correspondence, or proceedings in a suit other than the one under appeal), should be kept together. A correct and full description of such documents must be given.

16. The appellant shall, within two weeks after service of the notice required by Rule 12, deliver to the Deputy Registrar both "List A" and "List B" prepared in accordance with the above rules. These lists shall be termed "The Appellant's Lists."

17. On receipt of the lists of the papers to be included in Parts I and II of the Paper-book at the expense of the appellant (List A and List B) the Deputy Registrar shall cause to be prepared estimates of the costs of the preparation of Parts I and II of the Paper-book.

18. As soon as the lists are delivered to the Deputy Registrar by the Appellant, he shall, if the respondent enters appearance on or before the date mentioned in the notice under Order XLI, Rule 14, Civil Procedure Code, give notice of such delivery to such respondent. If the respondent fail to enter appearance on or before the date mentioned in the notice under Order XLI, Rule 14, and if it shall appear that the said notice has been duly served on such respondent, he shall not without the leave of the Registrar be entitled to file a list of papers for insertion in the Paper-book under Rule 20.

19. Every respondent who has entered appearance shall be entitled to inspect the appellant's list and, at his own expense, to obtain a copy of the whole or of any portion thereof.

20. Every such respondent shall, within two weeks after service upon him of the notice required by Rule 18, deliver to the Deputy Registrar a list in duplicate, in the form in Rule 13, of the papers, other than those inserted in the appellant's lists and relevant to the subject-matter of the appeal, to which such respondent desires that reference shall be made by the Court at the hearing of the appeal, and which shall be inserted in the Paper-book at such respondent's expense. Such list shall be termed "The Respondent's List."

21. The Deputy Registrar shall, within fourteen days after the delivery by the Appellant and the Respondent of their lists respectively, make and deliver to such Appellant and to such Respondent separate estimates of the cost of preparing their portions of the Paper-book. Every estimate for the cost of the preparation of the Paper-book shall include the cost of transcribing, translating and printing, etc., the documents marked * in Rule 11 above.

22. The Appellant and Respondent respectively shall deposit with the Accountant of the Court the amounts due on the estimates served under Rule 21 within the times here specified:—

(a) The amount due for estimating, translating and examining translations, after (in the case of the Appellant) deducting the amount of the initial deposit made under Rule 29 (1), Chapter V within four weeks of the service of the estimate, and

(b) The whole of the remainder within eight weeks of the service of the estimate.

23. If the respondent considers that any paper or portion of a paper which ought to have been inserted in the appellant's lists under the provisions of Rule 14, has been omitted therefrom in violation of these provisions, he may, within one week after service upon him of the notice required by Rule 18 and after giving notice to the appellant of his intended application, apply to the Registrar for an order that such paper or portion of a paper be inserted in the Paper-book of the case at the cost of the appellant.

24. If one party objects to the inclusion of a document on the ground that it is unnecessary or irrelevant, and the other party nevertheless insists upon its being included, and the Registrar allows the document to be included, the lists shall clearly indicate the fact that, and the party by whom, the inclusion of the document was objected to.

25. The Registrar, as well as the parties and their legal agents, shall endeavour to exclude from the Paper-book all documents (more particularly such as are merely formal) that are not relevant to the subject-matter of the appeal, and generally, to reduce the bulk of the Paper-book as far as practicable, taking special care to avoid the duplication of documents and the unnecessary repetition of headings and other merely formal parts of documents.

Note (1)—Ordinarily, a long series of documents, such as accounts, rent-rolls, inventories, etc., should not be printed in full; but the parties or their legal agents should agree to short extracts being printed as specimens.

Note (2)—Unless the Registrar shall otherwise direct, documents produced before the Court of first instance but not admitted in evidence shall not be included in the Paper-book. An Advocate desiring to refer to any such document at the hearing of the appeal before the High Court shall, at any time before the hearing, serve on the Advocate for the Opposite party a typed copy or a typed copy of the translation as the case may be, of any such document to which he desires that reference should be made, and shall also provide 2 such typed copies or typed copies of the translations for the use of the Court. If he fails to do so he shall not refer to such document at the hearing and no adjournment of the appeal will be granted on this account unless the Court otherwise directs.

26. The appellant's and respondent's lists shall each bear a certificate under the hand of the Advocate for such appellant or respondent in the following forms:—

I, A. B., Advocate for , do hereby certify that I have carefully examined this list with reference to the provisions of Rule 25, Chapter IX of the Appellate Side Rules, and declare that in my judgment it is necessary to include in the Paper-book of the appeal every document, or portion of a document, included in the list in order to arrive at a proper decision of the appeal.

27. If the respondent do not enter an appearance, or do not deliver the list directed by, and within the time prescribed by, Rule 20, and if no order be made under Rule 23, the Paper-book shall be prepared in accordance with the appeallant's lists.

28. When two or more appellants or respondents have the same interest in the appeal, one set of lists only shall be required from all such appellants or respondents. Appellants or Respondents having separate interests shall deliver separate sets of lists. In such cases the principle of Rule 32 shall apply.

29. If any of the papers which must be inserted in the appellant's list or in the respondent's list, was previously printed in a former Paper-book, the fact of its having been so printed must be stated in the list in which such paper is inserted. Such papers shall not be printed unless the Registrar otherwise directs.

30. No paper in the record of the case, which is not inserted in the appellant's or respondent's lists, or ordered to be included in the Paper-book under Rule 23, and printed in the Paper-book of the case or in a previous Paper-book, shall be referred to at the hearing of the appeal without the special leave of the Court. But this rule shall not preclude the Court from referring to any paper to which it considers a reference necessary for the ends of justice.

31. If it subsequently appears that the amount deposited by either party to the appeal is insufficient to defray the cost of preparing his portion of the Paper-book, or a supplementary Paper-book after remand, the Deputy Registrar shall estimate the additional amount required and shall give notice thereof to such party. Such additional amount shall be deposited by such party with the Accountant of the Court within two weeks after service upon him of such notice. No work in the matter of the preparation of the Paper-book, which is likely to cost more than the sum deposited should ordinarily be undertaken until such additional deposit has been made, unless the Registrar shall otherwise direct.

32. When separate appeals have been preferred by different persons against the same decree, complete lists of the documents which the parties wish to include in the Paper-book shall be delivered by the parties to each appeal. Common matter shall appear in one Paper-book only, the other Paper-books containing references to the pages of the paper-book in which such common matter appears. In such cases the Deputy Registrar shall, subject to the order of the Registrar, apportion between the parties concerned the cost of preparation in respect of matter common to all or any of the parties. The estimates for the cost of the preparation of Parts I and II of the Paper-books in such cases shall not be served on the parties until such apportionment has been made. This rule shall also apply when two or more separate appeals are preferred in analogous cases.

33. If the appellant fails to deliver his lists of papers in accordence with Rule 16, or if the appellant or respondent fails to make the deposit or additional deposit, required by Rules 22 and 31, respectively, the Deputy Registrar shall lay the matter before the Registrar, who may, in case of default by the appellant, cause the appeal to be set down for hearing; and the Court may, unless satisfied that there was reasonable ground for the default, direct the appeal to be dismissed for want of prosecution, or may pass such other order as may seem proper in the circumstances of the case

34. The appellant shall, simultaneously with depositing the money referred to in Rule 22 (a) above, file with the Deputy Registrar a declaration stating the name of the Advocate by whom his Paper-book will be prepared, either in accordance with Rule 45 or with Rule 49.

The Deputy Registrar shall thereupon make over one of the respondent's duplicate lists to the Advocate so named, giving the respondent notice thereof.

35. (a) Such Advocate shall be afforded all reasonable access to the original record in order to enable him to make transcripts of the papers and do other acts necessary to the preparation of the Paper-book, but he shall not be entitled to remove such original record from the office of the Deputy Registrar. Certified transcripts of the papers shall be furnished to him, if he so desire, upon payment of the usual rates.

(b) Such Advocate shall himself deal with the original records made over to him, and is hereby prohibited from entrusting them to the care of any other person. For the purpose of translating and copying documents, in any case, he alone will be permitted to have access to the original record of such case.

(c) Such Advocate shall be permitted to utilize the services of one reader or muharrir to assist him in such work. He must, however, himself be present and continuously in possession of the record, and on his leaving the office, the record must be returned to the officer of the Court in charge, and the work of preparing the Paper-book must at once cease, the reader or muharrir leaving with his employer.

(d) In the case of any Paper-book in which a map has to be inserted such Advocate shall be allowed to utilize also the services of a draftsman, who will be allowed access to the record on the same terms as the reader or muharrir.

36. Any Advocate who has practised in the High Court for a period of three years, or who has practised in a Muffassal Court for not less than three years and in the High Court for not less than one year, shall be entitled to prepare a Paper-book under these rules.

Provided that a Division Court, on being satisfied, either on the report of the Registrar or otherwise, that any Advocate has been negligent, incompetent or careless in the preparation of a Paper-book, may disqualify such Advocate from preparing Paper-books for such period as to it may seem proper.

37. An advocate duly authorised to prepare a Paper-book shall be required to make a declaration in writing to the effect that he will himself do the translation work, and, in the case of an Appeal valued under Rs. 10,000, that the editing will be done either by himself or under his direct supervision.

38. Paper-books in Appeals from Original Decrees must be made ready and filed with the Deputy Registrar within the following limits of time from the date when the deposits required to be made by the appellant under Rule 22 (a) above are made, viz:—

(a) when the Paper-book is estimated by the Deputy Registrar to consist of not more than 100 pages—within six weeks;

(b) when the Paper-book is estimated by the Deputy Registrar to consist of more than 100, but not more than 200 pages—within two months;

(c) in any other case—within four months.

39. The time within which the examination of translations should be completed is as follows:—

In the case of Paper-books falling within clause (a) of Rule 38—two weeks.

In the case of Paper-books falling within clause (b) of Rule 38—three weeks.

In the case of Paper-books falling within clause (c) of Rule 38—one month.

On the completion of the examination of the translations, but not before, and provided that the translations have been properly done and accepted, the Advocate preparing the Paper-book shall be entitled to withdraw the amount due to him for such translations.

On the Paper-books being filed, they shall be taxed, and it will be the duty of the Taxing Officer to see that they have been prepared in conformity with these rules.

It shall be the duty of the Examiners of Translations to report through the Taxing Officer to the Registrar any case in which the translations have been carelessly, negligently or imperfectly done, and it shall be the duty of the Taxing Officer to report to the Registrar any case in which the preparation of any other portion of the Paper-book has been carelessly, negligently or imperfectly done. The Registrar, if he thinks fit, will report any such matter to the Court, who may take action under the proviso to Rule 36, and may either in addition to or without taking such action, direct that the whole or any portion of such funds as are lying in the Court to the credit of the account of the Paper-book concerned be withheld from the Advocate in question, and may pass orders for the disposal of the funds so withheld.

When the Taxing Officer is satisfied that the Paper-book has been properly prepared, he shall certify accordingly, and upon such certificate being granted, but not before, the balance of the amount due to the Advocate concerned shall be paid to him on application.

40. When a case is ready for hearing, the Deputy Registrar shall furnish the Advocates engaged on either side with the copies to which they are entitled under Rule 48 or Rule 52. The issue of the Paper-books to the Advocates will be notice to them that the case is ready for hearing.

41. The endorsement on every Paper-book prepared for the use of the High Court at the hearing of the appeal shall furnish the following information:—

(a) the number of the cause;

(b) the name of the Judge of the Court below,

(c) the names of the parties and their Advocates;

(d) the date of the institution of the suit;

(e) the date of the Lower Court's judgment;

(f) the date on which the appeal was filed; and

(g) the date on which the appeal was heard.

42. In appeals in which the respondent shall not have appointed an Advocate up to the date of the preparation of the Paper-book, an appendix containing the deposition of the serving officer and the return and the remarks of the lower Court as to the service shall be added to the Paper-book either in transcript or translation, according as they may be in English or in the vernacular.

43. The supplementary Paper-book after the receipt of finding of a lower Court in a case referred under Order XLI, Rules 25 and 27, Civil Procedure Code, shall be governed by the rules of this Chapter.

44. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, unless the Registrar shall otherwise direct, in appeals below Rs. 5,000 in value in which it appears that if Parts I and II of the Paper-book were printed, the total number of pages contained in the Paper-book would be 20 or less, 12 typed copies of the Paper-book shall be prepared at the cost of the Appellant. In such cases, the Appellant and the Respondent, if the latter enters appearance, shall be entitled to have, free of charge, as many copies of the Paper-book, not exceeding four on either side, as they may have Advocates engaged in the appeal. In any case, they shall each be entitled to two copies. Additional copies over and above those which may be supplied to the parties free of charge under this rule shall be charged for.

B—APPEALS FROM ORIGINAL DECREES VALUED UNDER Rs. 10,000.

45. Paper-books in all appeals valued under Rs. 10,000 shall be prepared by an Advocate duly authorised to act for the Appellant, subject to the translations being examined by a panel of examiners appointed by the Court.

Such Paper-books must be prepared within the period specified in Rule 38 but in calculating the said period the time actually taken in examining the translations shall be deducted.

46. The estimates for the preparation of the Paper-books in such appeals shall state separately the cost of translating, editing, printing, etc., at the following rates:—

(a) estimating at 10,000 words per rupee;

(b) translating at 150 vernacular words per rupee, three figures being counted as one word;

(c) examining translations at 300 vernacular words per rupee, three figures being counted as one word;

(d) copying at the rates specified in Chapter XIII;

(e) editing the Paper-book at eight annas a page if it is printed, and at five annas a page if it is typed;

(f) lithographing, drawing or tracing maps (where necessary)—actual cost;

(g) printing fee for 24 copies—

Ordinary matter (without marginal notes)—Actual cost, not exceeding Rupee 1-2 per page.

Tabular matter—Actual cost.

Note—(1) The above rates are liable to alteration.

(2) The charge for editing includes the charge for indexing if the Paper-book is printed and that for stationery if the Paper-book is typed.

(3) If the document to be translated is in any language other than the vernaculars of Bengal and Assam, a special rate may be fixed by the Registrar.

(4) Each item of cost in the preparation of the Paper-book at the rates specified above should be calculated to the nearest anna (fraction below half an anna being omitted and half an anna or over being reckon as one anna).

47. The Paper-book for the use of the High Court in such appeals shall be printed and edited in accordance with the following directions:—

(i) The printed Paper-book shall consist of two parts in the same volume, where practicable, viz., Part I and Part II. Part I shall contain the record of the proceedings in the Lower Court, and shall include all the papers mentioned in rule 11. These should be printed strictly in chronological order, that is, in the same order as the index. Part II shall contain the exhibits and documents relevant to the subject-matter of the appeal which should be arranged in the manner prescribed in Rule 15, each document to show its exhibit mark and whether it is a plaintiff's or defendant's document (unless this is clear from the exhibit mark). Each Part should be paged at the foot of each page. The heading to each document should consist of the number or exhibit mark and the description of the document in the index with the date, and the corresponding English date must be given if the document bears any other date.

(ii) The index of Part I shall be in chronological order and shall be placed at the beginning of the volume. The index to Part II shall follow the order of the exhibit mark, and shall be placed immediately after the index to Part I. The documents in Part I should be numbered consecutively, while those in Part II should not be numbered apart from the exhibit mark. The index should contain a correct and full description of each document and references to the pages in the printed Paper-book. Whenever any document included in Part I or Part II of the Paper-book is dated according to Bengali fashion, the corresponding English date of such document must be entered in the index.

(iii) All papers which are not in English shall be translated into that language. Such translation and the original English papers shall be arranged and printed in Parts I and II in the order prescribed by the first sub-clause of this rule.

(iv) Maps forming part of a Paper-book shall be included in the index, but shall not be bound up with the other papers in the Paper-book. Such maps shall be drawn or printed on durable paper and they shall form a separate packet with a separate list.

Translations of vernacular phrases or figures that form part of a map must be submitted on a correct tracing of the map in question.

48. There shall ordinarily be printed 24 copies of the Paper-book, but the Registrar may, when necessary, direct a larger number to be printed. The appellant and respondent shall be entitled to have, free of charge, as many copies as they have Advocates engaged in the appeal. In any case they shall each be entitled to three copies.

C—APPEALS FROM ORIGINAL DECREES VALUED AT RS. 10,000 OR OVER.

49. Paper-books in all Appeals valued at Rs. 10,000 or over shall be prepared by an Advocate duly authorised to act for the Appellant subject to the translations being examined by a panel of examiners appointed by the Court and the paper-book being edited by the Court's staff of Editors.

Such Paper-books must be prepared within the period specified in Rule 38 but in calculating the said period the time actually taken in examining the translations shall be deducted. Delay on the part of Editors will be no excuse for extending the time unless the same has been promptly and duly reported to the Registrar and his orders obtained.

50. The estimate for the preparation of the Paper-books in such Appeals shall be prepared in accordance with the particulars in Rule 46 above, except that—

(i) For " eight annas " in clause (e) should be read " ten annas."

(ii) For " 24 copies " in clause (g) should be head " 64 copies ".

(iii) For " Rupee 1-2 per page " in clause (g) should be read " Rupee 1-6 per page ".

51. Paper-books for the use of the High Court in such Appeals shall be printed and edited in accordance with the directions in Rule 47 above, with the additional direction that the printing of each separate document and exhibit shall begin on a separate sheet.

52. There shall ordinarily be printed 64 copies of the Paper-book, but the Registrar may, when necessary, direct a larger number to be printed. The appellant and respondent shall be entitled to have, free of charge, as many copies as they have Advocates engaged in the appeal. In any case they shall each be entitled to three copies.

53. On receipt of the printed Paper-books 40 copies thereof shall forthwith be kept in safe custody in the record-room for use in the event of an appeal to the Privy Council. Of the remainder, 10 copies should be retained for use in the High Court.

Part III—Appeals from Appellate Decrees.

54. Paper-books in all Appeals from Appellate Decrees will consist of the following papers:—

(a) The judgment of the first Court.

(b) The judgment of the lower appellate Court.

(c) Any judgments or order of remand passed in the case either by the lower appellate Court in appeal or by the High Court on Second Appeal.

(d) The memorandum of Second Appeal.

(e) A front leaf containing the number of the cause; the names of the Judges of the two Courts below; the names of the parties and of their Advocates; the date of the institution of the suit; the date of the judgment of the first Court; the date of the judgment of the Lower Appellate Court; the date on which the appeal was filed and the date on which the appeal was heard.

Note (1)—The Advocate for the Appellant shall, before the hearing of the appeal, serve on the Advocate for the Respondent a typed copy or a typed copy of the translation, as the case may be, of any document upon the construction of which he considers the determination of the appeal depends, and shall also provide two such typed copies or typed copies of the translation for the use of the Division Court. If he fails to do so, he shall not refer to such document at the hearing, and no adjournment of the hearing of the appeal will be granted on this account, unless the Court otherwise directs.

Note (2)—If, in any Second Appeal, the Bench at the time of the preliminary hearing under Order XLI, Rule 11, Civil Procedure Code, or the Advocate for the Appellant desires that translations of the plaints or written statements should be prepared, the Advocate for the Appellant shall, before the hearing of the appeal, serve on the Advocate for the respondent typed copies of the translations of such plaints or written statements, and shall also provide two such typed copies for the use of the Division Court.

55. Except as otherwise provided in these rules, in each case of Second Appeal (including appeals under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act), the Registrar shall cause to be prepared, at the cost of the appellant, twelve printed copies of the Paper-book as aforesaid.

56. In the case of Appeals from Appellate Decrees not exceeding Rs. 50 in value, other than appeals under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the Registrar shall cause two typed copies of the Paper-book as aforesaid to be prepared for the use of the Judges and no charge shall be levied from the parties on account of the preparation of such Paper-book.

57. In the case of Appeals from Appellate Decrees exceeding Rs. 50 in value, including appeals under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the appellant shall be entitled to have, free of charge, two copies, and the Deputy Registrar as guardian ad litem of a minor respondent one copy, of the printed Paper-book.

58. No work in the matter of the preparation of the Paper-book shall be undertaken until the deposit required under the provisions of Rule 29 (2), Chapter V, has been made, unless the Registrar shall otherwise direct.

59. In case of the appellant failing to make the necessary deposit under Rule 29 (2), Chapter V, the Deputy Registrar shall lay the matter before the Registrar who may at once cause the appeal to be set down before the Division Court to which it belongs; and if the appellant does not satisfy the Court as to his delay, his appeal may be dismissed for want of prosecution, or the Court may pass such other order as it may deem proper.

60. Additional Paper-books over and above those which may be supplied to the Advocate for the appellant, free of charge, under these rules shall be charged for at the rate of six annas a page for each additional Paper-book supplied to him, subject to a maximum additional charge of Rs. 7-8, for each such Paper-book. Similarly, copies of the Paper-book may be supplied to the Advocate for the Respondent on payment of the sum of six annas a page per Paper-book, subject to a maximum charge of Rs. 7-8 for each such Paper-book.

61. When the case is ready for hearing, the Deputy Registrar shall furnish the Advocates engaged on either side with copies of the Paper-book, for which deposit shall have been made as aforesaid. The issue of Paper-books to the Advocates will be notice to them that the case is ready for hearing.

62. In cases governed by one judgment the Registrar, on application, may make a special order.

As regards Paper-books required by the Advocate for the respondent or additional Paper-books required by the Advocate for the Appellant in the case of analogous appeals, the Registrar, in making an order as to the payment of the costs for the preparation of such Paper-books, shall be guided by the principle laid down in Rule 60 above.

Part IV—Appeals from Orders.

63. (13) The civilization associated with a language can only be taken by candidates who also offer the language itself.

(14) In subject 5, Vernacular Language, a candidate may offer any one of the following languages—Assamese, Bengali, Burmese, Gujrati, Hindi, Kanarese, Malayalam, Marathi, Oriya, Punjabi, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu, Urdu.

For the examination to be held in 1930 and the seven succeeding years, candidates will be allowed to offer French, German, or Italian in substitution for Vernacular Language.

(15) A candidate for any of the subjects numbered 36 to 47 must have undergone laboratory training in an institution authorised to prepare candidates in that subject for a university degree and must send in a voucher to that effect from the head of the institution, two years' laboratory training being required for a science on the higher grade and one year's training for a science on the lower grade. For candidature for Geography or Experimental Psychology or Engineering or Agriculture (subjects 48, 50, 53, 54) a certificate of one year's training in an institution authorised to prepare candidates in that subject for a university degree is required. For the purpose of this rule the Thomason Civil Engineering College, Roorkee, will be treated as if it were an institution authorised to prepare candidates in Engineering for a university degree.

(16) As Vernacular Literature a candidate may offer the literature of any one of the following languages:—Bengali, Burmese, Gujrati, Hindi, Marathi, Tamil, Telegu, Urdu.

(17) From the marks assigned to candidates in each subject, such deduction will be made as the Public Service Commission may consider necessary in order to secure that no credit is allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

(18) If a candidate's handwriting is not easily legible, a deduction, which may be of considerable amount, will be made on this account from the total marks otherwise accruing to him.

(19) Credit will be given for good English, including orderly, effective and exact expression combined with due economy of words, in all the 54 subjects of the examination and not only in subjects 1 and 2 which are specially devoted to the English language.

(20) A list of the competitors shall be made out in order of their proficiency as disclosed by the aggregate marks finally awarded to each competitor, and in that order, so many competitors, up to the determined number of appointments,* as are found by the Public Service Commission to be qualified by examination, shall be designated to be selected candidates for the Indian Civil Service, provided that the Governor-General of India in Council is satisfied that they are duly qualified in other respects. Should any selected candidate become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled or not. In the former case, the candidate next in order of merit and in other respect duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected candidate.

(21) Selected candidates will be on probation for two years in the United Kingdom.

Special Rule applicable to Burman Candidates.

(22) (i) The term "Burman candidate" means a candidate domiciled in Burma both at the date of his birth and at the date when he applies to be admitted to the examination.

(ii) A branch of the competitive examination confined to Burman candidates shall be held in Burma and no Burman candidate shall compete elsewhere in India.

(iii) Burman candidates shall apply to be admitted to the examination to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Burma before such date and in such form as the Governor-General in Council shall prescribe and rules 3 (i) and 3 (ii) shall not apply to Burman candidates.

(iv) Burman candidates shall not be included in the list made out under rule 20 but a separate list of Burman candidates shall be made out with reference to the determined number of appointments available in Burma to which the provisions of rule 20 shall apply.

(23) Any rules for the regulation of admission to the Indian Civil Service through competitive examinations held in India which are in force at the time these rules come into operation are hereby repealed.

* Elsewhere than in Burma the number of appointments which will be announced for competition will not represent the total number of vacancies to be filled in India, as certain vacancies will be reserved in accordance with the pledge given by the Hon'ble Home Member in the Council of State on the 2nd March 1925 and will be filled, if necessary by nomination for the purpose of adjusting communal inequalities which may arise from the results of the competitive examinations in London and India.

' In the case of Burma the number of appointments announced for competition in 1930 will represent the total number of vacancies to be filled, and no appointments will be made by nomination.

(8) The ordinary session of the Final Examination for the testing of riding will take place in advance of the rest of the Final Examination and a special session will when necessary be held at a later date for the benefit of any candidate who may have failed at the ordinary session.

Candidates who at the ordinary session satisfy the Commissioners that they are sufficiently at home in the saddle for the efficient performance of all duties required of members of the Indian Civil Service will be awarded marks ranging between 101 and 200 according to the degree of proficiency displayed.

Candidates who at the ordinary session fall short of this adequate proficiency but show such minimum proficiency as is evidence that with a moderate amount of practice they can attain full proficiency, will receive marks ranging between 1 and 100; they will be allowed to proceed to India and will on their arrival there be subjected to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Local Government.*

Any candidate who at the ordinary session fails to show a minimum proficiency will be examined again at a special session. If he then attains adequate proficiency he will not be subjected to further tests in India. If he attains minimum proficiency he will be allowed to proceed to India under the same condition as if he had attained minimum proficiency at the ordinary session. No credit in marks will be given for any performance at a special session.

Probationers may also be examined in riding at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary period.

(9) Such deductions as the Civil Service Commissioners may consider necessary will be made from the marks assigned to candidates at the Intermediate and Final Examinations in order to secure that no credit is allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

* Such candidates will receive no increase to their initial pay until they have passed the further tests in question to the satisfaction of their Local Government.

(10) The Civil Service Commissioners will prepare lists of the candidates in order of merit; the order for the one-year probationers being based on the sum of the marks obtained by the candidates at the Open Competitive and Final Examinations, the order for the two-year probationers being based on the sum of the marks obtained by the candidates at the Intermediate and Final Examinations.

(11) The selected candidates whose performance in the compulsory subjects* of the Final Examination is such as to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners, and who have also satisfied the Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character and conduct during the period of probation, shall be certified by the Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Indian Civil Service, provided that they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

(12) If any candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending the Final Examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination. A selected candidate absent for such adequate cause from the Intermediate Examination may, under similar conditions, be allowed to appear at the Intermediate Examination a year later or at a special examination, or may be excused the Intermediate Examination and allowed to appear for the final examination in regular course.

Any candidate who at the Intermediate Examination shall appear to have wilfully neglected his studies, or to be physically incapacitated for pursuing the prescribed course of training, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of selected candidates.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

made by the Civil Service Commissioners with the authority of the Secretary of State for India in Council:—

(i) Selected candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) An allowance of £300 a year, or, in the case of Selected Candidates possessing an Indian domicile, an allowance of £350 a year will be given to any candidate who passes his probation at one of the Universities or other Institutions that have been approved for the purpose by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

*The compulsory subjects include riding and a candidate who fails at the end of the period of probation to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that he has reached the minimum standard of proficiency in riding will be liable to have his name removed from the list of selected candidates.

In the case of Selected Candidates on probation for one year the allowance will be payable in four equal instalments on the following dates respectively; December 24th after his selection, March 25th, June 25th and after signature of Covenant on appointment to the Service.

In the case of Selected Candidates on probation for two-years the allowance will be payable in eight equal instalments, the first on the December 24th after selection, the second to the seventh on the six following quarter days and the eighth after signature of Covenant on appointment to the Service.

The payment of the various instalments of the allowance except the final instalment, and, in the case of the two-year probationers, the instalment payable at the end of the first year of probation, will be conditional on the receipt by the High Commissioner for India, through the authorities of the approved institution, of a certificate that the candidate had fulfilled up to date the requirements of the authorities and shown satisfactory progress.

If an Indian Government Scholar becomes a selected candidate for the Indian Civil Service, his scholarship stipend shall cease to be paid with effect from the 1st October of the year in which he becomes a selected candidate. He may, however, provided he has executed the agreement referred to in (iii) below, be granted on, or at any time after, the 1st October, an advance on account of the instalment of the allowance payable on the 24th December.

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

N. B.—The Secretary of State for India gives notice that the amount of the allowances will be reconsidered in 1929, with a view to a possible reduction with effect from the instalment payable in December 1929.

(iii) Each Candidate will be required before receiving the first instalment of his allowance to execute an agreement binding himself and one surety jointly and severally to refund all moneys he may have received from the Secretary of State for India in the event of:—

(1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Indian Civil Service, or

(2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.

(iv) All candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force they may be required to make for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(v) A First Class passage to India will be engaged for Selected Candidates with a view to their proceeding to India after they have signed their covenants.

(vi) Candidates appointed to the Indian Civil Service after undergoing one year's probation will be senior to those appointed in the same year after undergoing two-years' probation. The seniority of candidates of each class inter se will be determined by the order in which their names appear on the lists referred to in clause 10 of the regulations.

(vii) A candidate who fails to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected unless the Secretary of State in Council shall after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, allow him to sit for re-examination in the subject or subjects in which he failed. In general a candidate who is allowed re-examination will be required to forfeit the whole or part of the final instalment of his allowance, but if it appears to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that his failure to pass the examination was due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond his control, such forfeit of his allowance will not be required.

(viii) "Overseas pay" will not be admissible to Indian members of the Indian Civil Service selected at Open Competitive Examinations held in London in 1925 and subsequent years.

(Copies of this paper may be obtained on application to the Secretary to the Public Service Commission, Delhi/Simla).

Each candidate must fill up and submit two copies of this form, but only one copy of each of the documents be submitted with the application is required.

The 17th July 1929.

No. F.-15-X/R. 11/29.—The following Resolution by the Secretary of State for India in Council is published for general information:—

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 96-B of the Government of India Act, the Secretary of State, with the concurrence of the majority of votes at a meeting of the Council of India held this 28th day of May 1929, hereby makes the following amendments to the Civil Service Regulations, namely:—

1. For Article 356 of the said Regulations, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"356.—(a) Service rendered by an employee belonging to one of the classes mentioned in Note 2 below, after attaining the age of 20 years, which is pensionable under military rules but which terminates before a pension has been earned in respect of it, may, at the discretion of the Government of India or of the Provincial and minor Local Governments specified in Parts I and II of Appendix I to these Regulations, be allowed to count, when followed by service qualifying for pension under civil rules, as part of such service, provided that any bonus or gratuity received in lieu of pension on, or since, discharge from military service shall be refunded in such number of monthly instalments, not normally exceeding 36, and beginning from such date, as in each case the Government of India, Provincial Government or minor Local Government, as the case may be, may decide. Service so allowed to count shall, however, be restricted to service within or outside the employee's unit or department, in India or elsewhere, which has been paid for from Indian revenues or for which a pensionary contribution has been received by Indian revenues.

"(b) Service pensionable under military rules which does not terminate before a pension has been earned in respect of it shall not be allowed to count for pension under civil rules without the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council.

"Note 1.—An officer, ex-soldier or ex-airman will not be brought under the operation of this Article as a matter of course. Each case will be decided on its merits, e.g., there may be cases in which it may be open to a claimant for pension to add military service during the Great War to former non-pensionable service in the Army in order to claim the benefit of a military pension. In such cases it may be to the advantage of the claimant that he should not be brought under the operation of this Article. The bearing of para. 574 of the Pay and Allowance Regulations of the Army in India, Part II, on the position of soldiers of the Indian Army who re-entered during the Great War, deserves consideration in this connection.

"Note 2.—This Article applies to Indian commissioned officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Indian Army, and to non-combatant departmental and regimental employees and followers of the supplemental services. It also applies to warrant and non-commissioned officers and men of the British Service, and to warrant officers and departmental officers of the commissary and assistant-surgeon classes.

"Note 3.—To be eligible for the concession in this Article, the individual concerned should take his discharge from the Army or Royal Air Force within 12 months of the date of his confirmation in the appointment pensionable under civil rules. This limit may, in special cases, be relaxed by the Government of India.

"Note 4.—Employees in the Military Police have the option of counting service under any other rules in these Regulations which would give them a similar or more liberal concession.

"Note 5.—Employees who were in service in an appointment pensionable under civil rules on the 22nd February 1921 are eligible to count service under the rules which were in force before that date, where those rules are more advantageous to them."

2. In Article 357 of the said Regulations, for the words "the civil department," in both places where it occurs, the words "an appointment pensionable under civil rules" shall be substituted.

3. After Article 357 of the said Regulations, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"357-A. Civil employees (other than members of All-India Services or of other Services or Departments governed by special orders) who, prior to their civil employment, have rendered satisfactory paid military service in the Great War, which does not ordinarily qualify for a service pension under military rules, shall be allowed to count such military service for the purpose of civil pension, subject to the observance of the following general principles:—

(1) Completed years of military service shall be allowed to count up to a maximum of four years.

(2) In the case of services in which a minimum age is fixed for recruitment, no military service rendered below that age shall be allowed to count for pension.

(3) The addition of war service shall not be included in total service under Article 408 of these Regulations for the purpose of counting leave as service for pension, nor allowed in addition to the concession in Article 403 or 404-A, but any Government servant who may be entitled to the concessions admissible under the latter Articles and to the concession in this Article, will be allowed to select whichever is more favourable.

(4) British and Indian military service shall be allowed to count alike for pension and no contribution towards, or share of, a pension earned as a result of this concession shall be claimed from the Home Government.

(5) No refund of military bonus or gratuity shall be demanded from the employee."

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of Bengal, 1929-30.

Dacca, the 1st August 1929.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27 the area under sugarcane in Bengal has represented some 7·1 per cent. of the total area under sugarcane in British India.)

Character of the Season.—At the outset the weather was favourable and the planting of setts commenced generally in the normal time, except only in the districts of Burdwan, Pabna and Bakarganj, where the operation was a little late. Drought in February and inadequate rain in March somewhat interfered with the growth of the crop. Subsequently, however, alternate rain and sunshine have been generally beneficial although excessive rain and flood in parts of some East Bengal districts caused some damage. Present condition of the crop is reported to be favourable on the whole.

Area planted.—The total area planted with sugarcane for the province is reported to be 197,900 acres this year, against 195,800 and 195,800 acres reported in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

G. P. HECTOR,

Director of Agriculture, Bengal (offg.).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1929-30.

Dacca, the 1st August 1929.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.)

There are two crops, early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State, and only to a small extent in other districts. The "late" crop is grown in Bankura and Midnapore. As the late crop has not yet been sown, this forecast deals only with the early crop.

Character of the Season.—At the outset, the weather was generally favourable except in the Tripura State where, owing to insufficient rain, less area was sown this year. Later on heavy rains in Mymensingh and in the Tripura State affected the growth of the crop to some extent; elsewhere the conditions were favourable. The present outlook is reported to be fair on the whole.

Area sown.—The area sown is reported to be 76,257 acres this year, as against 76,993 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Mr. R. P. Masani, Joint Secretary. To commence his duties on the termination of his appointment as Secretary to the Bombay Provincial Banking Enquiry Committee.

In the meantime, the sudden and much lamented death of Mr. B. F. Madon has created an unexpected vacancy in the Central Committee. The late Mr. Madon was one of the two members nominated in consultation with the Federation of Indian Chambers, and the Government of India have been informed that the Federation in communication with its constituent bodies is arranging to nominate another member to take his place. The resulting appointment will be announced in due course.

2. In accordance with the intention stated in the Press Communiqué, the terms of reference were considered by the Central Committee in consultation with the Hon'ble the Finance Member of the Governor-General's Executive Council at its first meeting held in Bombay at the end of last month. The Government of India have now decided that the terms of reference to the Committee should be as follows:—

To investigate past records and existing conditions of banking in India including the organisation of the Money Market and to consider the steps, if any, that are feasible and desirable under the following main headings:—

(a) the Development of Banking with a view to the expansion of indigenous, co-operative and joint stock banking with special reference to the needs of agriculture, commerce and industry;

(b) the Regulation of Banking with a view to protecting the interests of the public; and

(c) Banking Education with a view to the provision of Indian personnel in adequate numbers and with the necessary qualifications to meet the increasing needs of the country for a sound and well managed national system of banking.

3. At the same meeting the final allocation of the subjects covered by the Enquiry as between itself and the Provincial Committees was considered by the Central Committee in consultation with the Hon'ble the Finance Member. It was decided that the heads of enquiry entrusted to the Provincial Committees should be set out in the form of a standard questionnaire and that this questionnaire should be forwarded by the Government of India to the Provincial Governments with the request that it might be issued by the Provincial Committees after they had added any additional questions which they considered necessary for the purpose of eliciting information regarding special local or provincial features. The Government of India realise that it is inevitable that there should be some overlapping in any allocation of subjects between the Central and the Provincial Committees, but they hope that it will be possible for the Central and the Provincial Committees by mutual co-operation to get over any difficulties on account of such over-lapping.

4. Five Provincial Committees have already been constituted and the Government of India hope that the remaining Provincial Committees will be set up in the course of this month and that all the Committees will begin regular work by the beginning of August and submit their reports by March 1930. It will be duty of the Central Committee to examine the material contained in these reports besides investigating any heads of enquiry which are not specially referred to the Provincial Committees.

5. The Government of India contemplate that before making its recommendations to Government, the Central Committee should have the assistance of a small body of experts selected by Government either from England or from other countries possessing well developed systems of rural credit and industrial banking. It is the intention that these experts should have joint discussions with the Central Committee and act as its advisers. The experts would be entitled to submit a separate report of their own, if necessary, to the Central Committee and in that case the Central Committee should submit the report of the experts together with its own report to the Government of India.

Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

The following rules for the guidance of private candidates for the Matriculation Examination are published for general information.

Female candidates are not required to undergo any Test Examination.

Each private student will pay a fee of Rs. 5 to the head of the institution in which he appears for the Test Examination. No private student will be admitted to the Test Examination unless he is accompanied for the purpose of identification by some persons known to the headmaster of the institution in which he appears.

4. Application for permission to appear at the Test Examination must be sent in time so as to reach this office not later than the 10th November 1929. The information to be given and the documents to be appended, in original, are the following:—

RESOLUTION ON THE BUDGET ESTIMATES OF INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF THE HOWRAH BRIDGE FOR THE YEAR 1929-30.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Marine Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 5TH AUGUST 1929

RESOLUTION—No. 2408 Mne.

Read--

The budget estimates of income and expenditure of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1929-30

Receipts.—The estimate of receipts for the year is placed at Rs. 4,19,478, against the budget and revised estimates of Rs. 4,19,888 and Rs. 3 69,418, respectively, for the preceding year The estimate of receipts from the East Indian Railway for the year is placed at Rs. 3,50,000 against the budget and revised estimates of Rs. 3,50,000 and Rs. 3,00,000, respectively, for the preceding year. In the revised estimate for 1928 29, the decrease of Rs. 50,000 in the receipts from the East Indian Railway, as originally estimated, was due to less traffic in wheat owing to the failure of the wheat crop in the United Provinces.

The Bengal Nagpur Railway have again contributed Rs. 26,000 towards the upkeep of the bridge during the year 1929-30.

Expenditure.—The estimate of total ordinary expenditure for the year is Rs. 4,82,429, against the budget and revised estimates of Rs. 4,10,379 and Rs. 4,26,779, respectively, for the preceding year. The estimated expenditure for the year, compared with the revised estimate for 1928-29, shows an increase of Rs. 55,650, which is mainly due to increased provision made for the maintenance of, and repairs to, pontoons, fenders and shieldings. The special expenditure of Rs. 1,31,383 originally budgetted for in 1928-29 for the work of substituting four lattice girders for the existing six bowstring girders, was reduced to Rs. 58,997 in the revised estimate. A provision of Rs. 17,638 has been made in the current year's budget for the purpose.

Resolved that the budget estimates for 1929-30 be approved under section 21 of the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871.

By order of the Governor in Council,
